Saints that Students can Pray To

With the start of another school year, here are some Catholic saints that students can pray to, as found on a page in the Google AI Overview Mode:

For academic pursuits--

- St. Thomas Aquinas As the patron saint of students, universities, and scholars, St. Thomas is sought for guidance in learning, understanding complex subjects, and combining faith with reason. He was a Dominican friar, priest, and Doctor of the Church, celebrated for his vast theological and philosophical writings.
- St. Albert the Great A professor to St. Thomas Aquinas, St. Albert is the patron of science students. He is known for his wide-ranging expertise in the natural sciences and philosophy.
- St. Catherine of Alexandria A fourth-century martyr and one of the Fourteen Holy Helpers, St. Catherine is the patron saint of students, teachers, and librarians. She is revered for her wisdom and for successfully debating 50 pagan philosophers.
- St. Benedict of Nursia and St. Scholastica This brother and sister founded monastic orders in the 500s. They are considered joint patron saints of students, having both emphasized study and a balanced, prayerful life

For specific needs--

- St. Joseph of Cupertino As the patron saint of test-takers and those with learning disabilities, his intercession is particularly sought during exams. Though he struggled with his studies, he passed his exams miraculously after intensely devoting himself to God.
- St. John Bosco An Italian priest and social worker from the 1800s, St. John Bosco is a patron saint for students and youth. He dedicated his life to educating poor and at-risk young people.
- St. Elizabeth Ann Seton As the first American-born saint, St. Elizabeth Ann Seton is the patron saint of Catholic schools. She founded the first free Catholic school for girls in the United States.
- Blessed Carlo Acutis (To be canonized on 7 September) This modern-day Italian teenager is a patron saint of the internet. A gifted and devout computer programmer, he used his skills to create a website documenting Eucharistic miracles

For encouragement and other purposes--

- St. Philip Neri A sixteenth-century priest and patron of joy, he is a good saint to pray to for keeping a cheerful spirit, a virtue he emphasized as an important part of the spiritual life.
- St. Clare of Assisi A follower of St. Francis of Assisi, she is the patron saint of eye disease and also television.
You can pray for her intercession for clarity of vision, both literally and figuratively.
- St. Dymphna She is the patron saint of the mentally ill and those suffering from emotional distress. You can pray for her intercession for help with study-related anxiety and for general emotional well-being.
- St. Lawrence A deacon martyred in the third century, he is a patron saint of students and the poor. He is an example of great generosity and cheerful endurance in suffering.

Raising Vocations for Tomorrow, Help them say Yes!

We want to thank everyone who has contributed to the Raising Vocations Collection. The major drive for this collection has concluded. So far this year, our parish has raised 8 gifts of $495.00. Every gift makes an impact in the formation of hundreds of young men and women throughout northeastern Wisconsin as they say “yes” to vocations to the priesthood or religious life; as well as young men and women of high school or college age in their formation as Catholic youth. If you would still like to make a gift you can use the materials that were sent to you in the mail, use the materials at the entrances of the church, visit www.catholicfoundationgb.org/give, or call Tammy Danz at 920-272-8123. Thank you and God bless you for your support of this important endeavor to make Catholic disciples for Christ!
