OFFERTORY

Be good Stewards of our Parish home ...

Thanks to your generous support, offertory collections increased 8% over the last year. During the summer months, our offertory significantly declines and picks back up after Labor Day. Since our parish remains open all year long, consistent giving is essential for our parish to function.

Many parishioners travel throughout the year so we ask those who will be away to continue supporting our parish by using the online giving option and link it to a regular weekly or monthly gift and to please consider checking the box to cover the transaction cost.

The Finance Committee's upcoming report, due out in September, will show that while the weekly collections were up, they still did not fully cover our parish's operating costs.

Consequently, I strongly encourage each parishioner or family to increase their weekly offertory to $40 to help ensure the long-term financial health of St. Michael.

Please prayerfully consider your financial commitment to our parish home.

-Fr. Paul S.J.

Pastor's Reflection

This past week's celebration of Yom Kippur, the Jewish Day of Atonement and Repentance, stirred in me some reflections on Jesus the Jew. Pope Pius XI, in 1938, declared that "Christians are spiritual Semites." This was more than a condemnation of the persecution of Jews in Nazi Germany. The pope was reminding the Church that salvation history, culminating in Christ, flows from the Abrahamic covenant, and Christians are grafted on to that covenant through the blood of Christ.

In the next few weeks, I will explore a bit of that salvation history: the covenants God makes with us, then the Exodus event as God's redemption of the divine promises and a resealing of Covenant, and some additional considerations of the Jewishness of Jesus. All three of those—Covenant, Exodus and Jesus' Jewishness—are fundamental to our understanding of Eucharist.

This week: Covenant

From the first, God has been in relationship and dialogue with humans. God talks with Adam and Eve face to face and walks with them in the "cool of the evening." God commands them to be good stewards of the garden entrusted to them and forbids them to eat of the fruit of the Tree. When they disobey, they are banished from Eden and can no longer see God "face to face." Only death itself will finally end their exile from the Divine Presence.

The Genesis story depicts the mounting evils people do, and God's initial determination to wipe them out and start over; but God relents, saves Noah and his family and a remnant of the creatures, and vows never again to destroy Creation. The sign of that first Covenant is the rainbow in the sky, after the Great Flood.

Genesis continues with the Covenant God makes with Abraham. God calls Abram out of his own land, Ur, and sets him on a journey of faith. God makes two promises to Abram, whom God now calls Abraham ("the father, i.e. God, is exalted, or is great"): God will give him and his elderly wife a son, from whom Abraham and Sarah will have a vast number of descendants; and they will receive their own land on which to dwell. The God makes a solemn Covenant with Abraham and with his descendants.

Ancient Near Eastern religions had a traditional ritual for making and sealing a covenant. When two parties made a solemn compact, they would slaughter animals and offer them in sacrifice to their gods, then the two would split the carcasses in half and walk between the two halves, pledging to be faithful to the terms of the pact and calling upon God to punish them if they were unfaithful to the pact by visiting upon them the same kind of fate that had befallen the sacrificed animals.

God directs Abraham to do the same ritual, but only God, and not Abraham, goes between the slaughtered animals. God binds himself absolutely to the Covenant, but does not bind humans in the same way, as God knows that humans will not be faithful to it. Indeed the rest of the story of Salvation History will be the story of human sin and failure, and the ever-new mercy of God, finding new ways to rescue us and restore us to right relationship with God. The sign of this Covenant between God and Abraham and his descendants is circumcision of the males of the family.

Next week, the Exodus event as God's redemption of his covenantal promises.

Wednesday, Dec 3rd, 2025

6:45pm to 9:00pm

Greenwich Catholic School
Gymnasium

We are happy to announce in this Jubilee Year of Hope, that Advent By Candlelight will be returning to St. Michael Parish. Come be a part of this beautiful evening for women as we prepare our hearts anew for the birth of Our Lord.

We will gather in a festive spirit of Faith and Hope, to experience together the true meaning of this blessed Advent Season.

As a hostess, you will accompany your eight guests at a table set and decorated lovingly by you, a reflection of your Advent joy, and centered around the symbol of the season, the Advent Wreath. We will share conversation and a light meal prepared by each host. Then the lights are dimmed, the candles lit, creating an atmosphere of "all is calm, all is bright", in which to be delighted by heavenly music and an inspirational reflection.

If you prefer to reserve an individual spot for the evening, there will be tables set and hostesses to welcome and serve you.

• Reservations can be made as an individual or as a hostess at:
www.stmichaelgreenwich.com

• Cost: $25 per person

Stories

Stories that include a child or family member's journey of faith can provide examples of how everyone's relationship with Christ can be ever-growing and lifelong.

Moral Lessons

Parents can help their children develop a moral compass based on integrity and virtue by sharing stories of what it was like when they grew up, the types of moral dilemmas they faced, and how others, along with their faith, provided guidance. It is OK to be honest and admit when missteps were made, how we learn from our mistakes, and the role of reconciliation and forgiveness. Storytelling can create an environment where children feel comfortable discussing moral questions and seeking guidance. <https://firstwitnesses.org/stories/>

Once a man asked, "What do you gain from regularly praying to God?"

The man replied, "Nothing...but let me tell you what I lost: anger, ego, greed, depression, insecurity, and fear of death. "Sometimes, the answer to our prayers is not gaining but losing, which ultimately is the gain."
