

Communication and language

Communication and Language focuses on developing children's speaking, listening, and understanding skills through rich, interactive experiences.

Children are encouraged to express their thoughts, needs, and ideas through conversations, storytelling, songs, and role play.

Adults model language, introduce new vocabulary, and support children in listening attentively and responding appropriately.

These experiences help build confidence, improve social interaction, and lay strong foundations for future reading and writing.