Third Quarter – Fall 2012

PRESIDENT’S MESSAGE

Helen L. Blair
president@clanblair.org

It’s hard to believe how quickly this year has gone by. I’ve been very thankful that our VP- Jim Blair of CO had been available to take over so many of my duties. He held and hosted our AGM in August and sounds like fun was had by all who attended. Read about it in this edition.

Our Board held our AGM meeting by Skype so we were able to have most of our board members attend and give input. Believe it or not, there are a lot of ‘behind the scenes’ activities going on to keep the group going.

Here’s a brief overview of the meeting:.

- Treasury report showed that it is still healthy despite the low interest rates.
- The Clan Blair Store report showed that the store is doing ok. We have a couple outstanding member’s checks that I’ve been waiting on to be able to order more stock. The catalog is still on hold.
- The Membership report showed slight growth, some members are getting older, but the report shows we are attracting new..
- High Commissioners report- position remains unfilled.
- Genealogy report showed little activity.
- DNA fund showed some inquires but no requests.
- Nominating Committee Report -is just now in the process of gathering names to make a ballot. Voting takes place 2013. We need new names to fill the executive board positions.
- Library report showed that little progress had been made on finding a new location to store our collection. Thank goodness with Jennifer’s persistent follow up she did get some misunderstandings cleared up. Prior dealings made it seem like they had lost 75% of our collection, instead of just a handful of items. With this news there is less urgency to locate a new facility to hold our collection.

-Editor’s reports showed that some members have been helpful in forwarding possible articles that can be used. More members are getting the newsletter by email so it’s cutting our operating expenses.

-PR report, position remains unfilled.

-Scotland Trip remains on hold until the economy improves.

-Webmaster report shows quite an interest in our website, Shawn is making lots of changes working at putting up an entirely new website with more functions and easier to update.

-Blairlin report shows that the conversion out of the dos program is on the backburner until the new website is finished.

-Muniments Committee report showed that even though we weren’t able to have a successful bid on the Blair of Blair documents we now have a better starting fund if further documents come up for bid.

- The Board is still working on different issues, updating or job descriptions, updating our bylaws, working on budgets, working on getting the store better organized, settling library issues, getting volunteers to join our Board and our continued quest to get empty positions filled, finding new and creative ways to handle our annual general meetings and working at getting a ballot together so we can hold our elections in 2013 and find a place or new idea for 2013 AGM.

Everyone, please take the time to support Clan Blair Society. We have several board positions that need to be filled and some that have utmost urgency in getting our executive board filled.

If you aren’t able to hold a Board position, we have many states without a commissioner. It that’s beyond your ability, please consider supporting your local state commissioner. The more volunteers we have the less work falls on any one person's shoulders. Take care- Helen

Annual General Meeting

Highlands Ranch, CO

August 4-6, 2012

The 2012 AGM was hosted by the Colorado Clan Blairs and all went as planned, with great spirit and camaraderie. With exception of few participants, Clan Blair Colorado is quite pleased with the events. The St. Andrews Society festival sponsors greeted us as the Honored Clan with spirit and excitement. We pitched our new 10X20 garage-style tent on Friday evening and it served as our greeting place, meeting place and living room. Pictures follow. The following are highlights:

Sunny Colorado greeted all our guests. The weekend began with a family BBQ on Friday evening at Clan Blair Society Colorado Headquarters. Six members participated and good time was had by all.

The Saturday festival involved 12 members who presented the Clan Blair Society colors at opening Ceremonies and in the booth throughout the day. Several new prospects agreed to become members and one found her name in the James Blair genealogy.

Saturday evening's banquet involved 14 members and included a freshly prepared haggis (from the Celtic Tavern). It included everything but the sheep's stomach. It was piped in by a youth pipe band member and the Ode was recited by Torin Blair. We enjoyed Highlands and Irish dance from Arabella and Saoirse. A great evening!

The Sunday festival involved 18 members (8 different than Saturday) and involved more genealogy discussions, including Sher Zimmer (Blair) who had traced her Blair line back to 1730. Uniquely, she had to find her birth parents since she was adopted at an early age.

We attracted 3 new prospective members and will follow-up to be sure they register.

During the Board report, the subject of a virtual AGM was discussed. More thought will go into this, but the consensus was positive if the event was planned for 3-4 hours and included:

- Skype connections across the country
- Education – perhaps a Witt Young presentation or something equivalent
- Genealogy advice, findings, tips, experiences from Coy and members like Sher Zimmer.
- Board report and discussion

The entire event worked out well and we are pleased. I thank the planning committee of Dyani Galligan, Erynn Shryack, Leslie Blair Gallagher and the set-up/take-down crew of Torin Blair, Nick Shryack, Kurt Blair and Mike Galligan.

They will be held October 20 and 21 at The Raceway Complex just one-half mile past the entrance to Kings Dominion off of Interstate 95 just north of Richmond in Ashland, Va.

Judy and John Blair of Bedford, Virginia will be hosting a tent for family and friends to revel in all things Scottish. Please join us, no matter what the weather! Our daughter Sarah is due any day now (September) with a baby girl, Lillian Blair Bishop.

The 15th Annual Arizona Highland Celtic Festival in Flagstaff was attended by lots of Blairs. Andrew & Jeremiah drove up Friday night to set up, I drove up as just a day trip.

The weather was wonderfully cool with just some smattering of rain that quickly cleared.

We were fortunate to have several visitors along with members stop by to visit. Member- Allan Blair of Flagstaff was working the Games. Member-Alvin Blair of Prescott came with his wife but this time brought along their 2 grown sons, Ryan of Prescott Valley & Phil of Tucson and their families. They showed off their Blair tattoos. I introduced them to Scotch eggs and Blair Atholl Scotch.

Member- Randi Blair drove all the way from IA with her mom Joyce Blair and daughters Sydney & Demi. They were in AZ to visit family but made the stop at the Games while on their way. It was so good to finally meet them. We had corresponded off and on for years. While there Randi hooked up with SAMs (Scottish American Military group) to assist in their color guard activities. I think they missed the cool weather of Flagstaff by the time they got to Lake Havasu. Our tent stayed full with Andrew, Jeremiah Bicknell of MT, Jessica Heydenreich of Tolleson, Michael Helfert of Tempe, Steve Blair of Peoria, Paul Blair of Flagstaff, Jessica Hunsinger with Kiargan, Odin, Fayth & Freye of Glendale and Douglas Blair of Flagstaff. I was hoarse by the time I got home. I wasn't there on Sunday but Andrew said that many of the same visitors were there again. I didn't leave the tent but I was able to hear the bands and see some activities from there. Even though it was a long drive home it was nice hearing the bagpipes still ringing in my ears on the way down the mountain.

Upcoming Arizona schedule:

September 29th is the 4th Annual Celtic Harvest Festival in Sedona. This will be at a new location, the Poco Diablo Resort. We are looking forward to attending. Info can be found - www.celticharvestfestival.com

November 2nd-4th is the date of the 26th Annual Tucson Celtic Festival & Highland Games. These are usually held at Rillito Park Racetrack. They usually have events starting Friday night throughout the weekend. This is one of the biggest Games in AZ. We didn't attend last year because they weren't disability-friendly for Clan setup/take down parking. If they have changed their policies we might be there, if not, we won't. If you're interested in going info can be found on www.tucsoncelticfestival.org

Utah Report

mailto:clanblair@lionshield.net

Recovering from back surgery does not mean total bed rest. I have been recovering well with my big plastic (turtle shell) back brace and in fact walked 5.5 miles the other day. I just cannot stoop, twist, or carry anything over 10 pounds yet. I have been working on a large poster of "Famous Blairs" to go on the outside of the tent where it will be prominently shown for all who pass by. I'm also working on other decorations to, hopefully, beautify our "plain" tent. I'm going to try to get the sponsors of these events to create a contest to select those clan booths that are well decorated. All it takes is a big blue, red, and white ribbon.....how cheap can you get. And the rewards will be...well....rewarding.! Tom's niece Sarah Blair took the following photos.

For the 3rd and possibly 4th year, Payson's annual Scottish Festival was supported by Clan Blair. The dates this year were July 13 and 14 at the Payson Memorial Park. It is a well-attended affair with, as you might suppose, clan booths, vendor tents, entertainment, Scottish food, athletic events and a parade which began promptly at 9:00 AM Saturday morning. The clans and bands marched through town. Clan Blair usually leads the way. After a brief ceremony of welcome, the Clans retire to their tents. Fortunately for us ours is under a large, leafy tree with plenty of shade, which in July in Utah has its strong advantages.

Our tent is rather showy and we have had good comments on it in the past, particularly on our large map of Scotland centered in the back wall. People like to know where their ancestors have come from and apparently we are one of the few or the only booth that has a map. At Payson this year there were 36 Clans participating and some good pipe bands. One was the Wasatch and District Pipe Band which has won honors in California, Estes Park, Colo., and Washington state. (Whit's grandson plays the drums...hence the commercial.). Last year they went to Scotland.

Because he is still recovering from extensive back surgery, Whit, our Commissioner for Utah, was unable to attend, so the booth this year was manned by members of the H. Thomas Blair family of Payson and Barbara Jean Blair of Orem. The photographs of Blair Castles and Manor houses were of particular interest to those who stopped to visit. Many wanted to know what part of Scotland the Blair clan was from. At least three new families with Blair ancestry were introduced to the Clan Blair Society..

Friday evening, strong winds and rain assaulted the booths and again on Saturday. The winds were so strong in the evening that broken limbs from the tall trees damaged some of the Clan tents and vendor booths. Clan Blair was spared, and in fact we were able to provide shelter for a few visitors during the storm by pulling the display table into the back of the canopy so that they could have a place to sit out the storm. We are grateful for the information assembled by the Clan Blair Society that we were able to share with all who showed an interest.

Northern California Commissioner

William Campbell Blair MD

I have just returned home from our main event of the Fall, hosting our Clan Blair Tent at the 147th annual Scottish Highland Gathering and Games, held over Labor Day weekend at the Alameda County Fairgrounds, in Pleasanton, California. This is one of the largest and oldest Scottish Gatherings and Games in North America. There was a huge turnout, the weather was marvelous and we thoroughly enjoyed the many activities and events.

We were fortunate in having a number of non-member visitors to our Clan tent, 8 of whom indicated an interest in Clan Blair Society membership. I will follow up with them, and hope some will decide to join. Among them were Latisha Melendez (Blair) from Travis AFB in CA, whose aunt is Charlotte Blair, genealogist for BSGR; Cameron Meyers (Blair) of Tracy, a High School student; Sarah E. Whitten who was so excited to extend her own genealogy from Blairlinn Information she found in our tent; Scott Grindy (Blair) who recently moved to Half Moon Bay from Seattle; William Cleveland visiting from Arizona; Rick Manigg from Carmichael, CA. and Rodger and Tricia Blair of Alameda, CA,

Among CBS members present I am especially grateful to Max Blair from Dublin CA. who was extremely helpful coming over Friday to help me set up our tent, and who helped pack up on Sunday, as well as helping out with visitors in our tent throughout the gathering. I could not have done it without him. Another very helpful visitor was our former newsletter editor Allen Rountree of San Jose with his friend Betty Fussel. Allen was with us in the tent most of Sunday, was very helpful, and it was wonderful visiting with him. Other members present included Julie and Steve Rattray Wyrick of Walnut Creek. (They are musicians, and she is a superb Highland Dancer); Marvin and Joyce Blair of Martinez; Gene Bicksler of Danville; and Frances and William Lloyd of Danville. I am so very grateful to them for giving me 2 tickets to their box in Grandstands where Max and I watched the fantastic closing ceremony show involving the massed pipe bands, the U.S. Marine Corps Band, and some Scottish Dancers. It was especially moving as they played Amazing Grace and Scotland the Brave. What a special treat!

We hope to see each of you as well as many others at our next Scottish Festival, the Sacramento Valley Games, to be held at the Solono Co. Fairgrounds in Woodland the last weekend of April 2013.

New York Report

Lynne Gallaudet Dolan

Long Island NY Commissioner

Hello from Bellerose Manor, NY! I hope everyone is trying to stay cool as possible. This summer here has been brutal but it hasn't stopped me from trying to visit Scottish Games in the area. This year I got to visit the Scottish Games in Norwalk, CT and in Altamont, NY. The Scottish Games in Norwalk were very small but nice and they're continuing to grow. The day we went was very hot so we didn't stay long. The Altamont Games were very good. Lots of vendors, that I don't always see at the Westbury Games. Lots of excitement and goings on all over the place. I plan to go back to visit again. I was invited to have a Clan Blair table there. I am still on the fence about this because it's about an hour and a half from home.

This year at the Long Island Scottish Festival and Highland Games was better than ever. The festival and games ran for 2 days, which was a change from just one day as in past years. The weather was beautiful. 2012 Honorary Chieftain Andrew (Andy) McInnes came over and greeted us and gave us a ribbon for 2012. He also showed up during the afternoon and sat down and chatted awhile. We discovered that we have some friends in common. On Saturday, there was the blessing of the Clan tartans by Rev. Dennis Carter. Yes, our Clan Blair tartan was blessed not once, but twice!

The 2 days were filled with games and entertainment by artists, including Arvel Bird, a Celtic violinist and a Native American flutist., Ceol Leinn, Seven Nation, as always the Two Men in Skirts, Dennis "Crazy" Carter, Jr with his puppets and a juggler. The Ye Pyrate Brotherhood were there to entertain. I can't forget the dancers. They were fabulous. This year they had a Heritage and Education Tent. There you could learn an introduction to the bagpipes and learn to speak Gaelic. There was a kilt making demonstration and last but not least, you could learn to be a Highland dancer. There were games for children as the caber toss, races, pony rides, face painting & sand art. Of course there was the tossing of the caber and the tossing of the sheaf for the big strong guys. The 79th Infantry Regiment of the Civil War were there. These soldiers that were at the games were portraying the Civil War surgeons. Maybe one of these games I'll show up in a Clan Blair Civil War skirt which was made from the Clans' twill tartan. It came out beautiful and I have worn it in the Remembrance Day parades in Gettysburg PA for the past 2 years.

1062 Tom Blair of Laramie WY passed away 7/11/12 at the age of 58 from complications of Leukemia. His wife Sandy just notified me:

The Colorado Clan Blair's met at the Long's Peak Scottish festival on September 7-9. We hosted 18 members who enjoyed the weekend's festivities, staffed the Clan tent and marched in the Grand parade.

The tent was very popular. New member Kip Baker provided a veritable feast for all the busy people in and out of the tent. We had to set up a "virtual" living room for visitors to meet and swap stories.

We met new Blairs and enjoyed plenty of visitation and activity around our tent.

Our Colorado dancers, Arabella Blair (8) and Saoirse Blair Galligan (7) performed Highland and Irish dance (respectively), and won medals. The weather was beautiful and all enjoyed the scenery which included deer and elk.

Every hour was punctuated by loud cannons booming as those manning the cannons attempted to shoot an inflated Nessie in Estes Lake.

Linville North Carolina: Clan Blair was well represented at the July 11 – 14th Grandfather Mountain Highland Games this year. Two years ago I took over from Harry Blair as "The Blair" at the North Carolina Games, I marched alone. This year we had 11 marchers, including the afore mentioned Harry Blair, and just missed 5 more who were a little late. The tent was full all weekend, especially Sunday when we got an inch of rain in the early afternoon. Everyone had a great time and are all expected back next year.

This year Parker Stephens won his age group in "Highland Wrestling" and William Diman came in second in his age group in the "Kilted (1/4) Mile".

Old Blair Plantation Home for Sale

George Blair, original plantation owner

Helen Blair received an email informing her that the old Blair Plantation home in Newberry, SC was up for sale. Dr. Bill Blair of Menlo Park found out there was a book with some information about the plantation.. Helen realized she'd bought the book last year and she found that has a small section in it about the place.

The book's title " Sacred to the Memory of the Blairs" written by T.W. Blair, Sr., and T.W. Blair ,Jr. It includes a small amount of information about the plantation. In scanning through it, Helen found some former and active members listed as ancestors.

Through DNA, it was determined that these Blair Plantation Blairs are related to the Blair of Blair line. The book starts with William Blair who died in 1814 in Newberry Co, SC. He had come from County Antrim, Ireland,, to Charleston, SC. They weren't able to trace back further than Ireland except through their DNA test. William Blair acquired 230 acres after 1786 in Newberry SC. Documents list his occupation as weaver. There are pieces of official documentation and family stories.

The second generation included David who died in 1820 in Newberry Co. and James, who was born in 1744, and died July 13, 1816 in Newberry Co. There is some debate about whether James was William's brother or son but the book lists him as son, although it says, ' take it with a grain of salt.'

On December 8th, 1783, James Blair, a miller, purchased 200 acres in Newberry. James had provided provisions to the Continental Army and Militia. The book lists official documentation and family stories.

James had 7 children. His sixth child, George Blair, was born Oct. 15, 1794 in Newberry Co, SC and died Sept. 27th 1870 in Newberry Co, SC. He stayed on and farmed the land the Blair place after his dad died. When Sherman's troops reached the Blair property they tied a rope around George Blair's neck and pulled him behind a horse the 16 miles to Newberry. George was around 70 years old at the time. They say he survived the ordeal but his health was never the same.

The book shows a robust picture of a young George.

Even after the financial destruction of the Civil War, George Blair still had a sizable estate worth $4000.00 in 1870's dollars. The book states that the plantation stayed in the family until the 1930's. It states that the interior wood work was all ornate from wood harvested off Blair lands and that portions of the home were demolished as it was updated. The book shows old photos of the home and lists that it is located at 4606 Mt. Pleasant Road, Newberry, SC.

John Blair:

John Blair is known for his role as a founding father of the United States of America. He was a patriot and one of the best trained Jurists of the day. His colleagues really revered his ability to be gentle yet benevolent with matters, often being able to determine what was needed exactly from any legal question. He had served as Mayor in Williamsburg, Virginia for two years being 1751 and 1751. He then attended college at his Granduncle's College of William and Mary where he earned an A.B. in 1754. He studied law at Middle Temple, London and was quick to return home to practice law. He eventually made his way to become the clerk of the Royal Governor's Council.

Within the next several years, he had become part of the Virginia Constitution convention and served a number of duties during this time. He was part of the advisory group of Governor Patrick Henry. He was elected to judgeship in the general court and made it to chief justice. In 1789, on the date of September 24th, Blair was nominated by President George Washington to be within the Supreme Court of the United States in which the Senate confirmed by the US Senate on the 26th of the same month. He received his commission on the 30th of September and served in the position for the next 6 years. He then retired and passed away 5 years after at a healthy age for that time of 68 years old.
