

All Saints Day

The Church Triumphant: It honors all the faithful who have attained heaven, including both canonized saints and the countless unknown souls who lived lives of holiness

On this day, we honor the saints not as distant figures but as spiritual companions. Let their example inspire us to live with courage, charity, and fidelity to God. May we, too, be part of the Church's eternal family, sharing in the joy of the Resurrection.

Please pray for our Home-bound and Sick

Father of goodness and love, Hear our prayers for the sick members of our community and for all who are in need.

November 1st
All Saints Day
Matthew 5: 1-12a

All Saints' Day reminds Catholics that sainthood is not reserved for a select few spiritual elites. It is a call given to every baptized person to live out the Gospel in daily life—whether through quiet service, raising a family, or enduring suffering with grace. While the Church formally canonizes certain figures, this feast shines a light on the "unnamed saints"—grandparents, neighbors, teachers, and quiet workers who colored God's world with love in ordinary ways. The feast reinforces the reality of the Communion of Saints—the spiritual bond connecting the Church Triumphant (those in heaven), the Church Suffering (those in purgatory), and the Church Militant (the faithful still journeying on earth). You are never walking alone; you are surrounded by a "cloud of witnesses". The Gospel reading for the day (Matthew 5:1–12) presents the Beatitudes not as an impossible ideal, but as the actual portrait of Jesus—and by extension, the saints who allowed His life to be mirrored in theirs.

Daily Meditation for All Saints' Day

Realize that you are never truly alone in prayer. The "Church Triumphant"—those who share in the Beatific Vision—are actively interceding for you and care deeply about your journey.
Think of one or two people in your own life—living or deceased—who showed you what a life of love, faith, or quiet endurance looks like.
Reflect with St. Thérèse: Remember the promise of St. Thérèse of Lisieux, who wished to spend her heaven doing good on earth. Ask the saints to help you today.

Examine Your Daily Field
Where you are is your harvest: Sanctity is built in ordinary moments, chores, workplaces, and families, not just grand historical events.

Purity of heart: Look at the Beatitudes. Where is God inviting you to show meekness, mercy, or a hunger for righteousness right now?

Drop the labels: Let go of judgments or prejudices that hide the image of God in your neighbors.
