Leader Highlight:
Angela Little

This month we are excited to highlight Angela Little, an 8th grade science teacher at Coosa High School and dedicated FCA leader. Angela played varsity basketball and softball, helping lead her teams to elite and state-level success before continuing her basketball career at Toccoa Falls College. She has spent 12 years coaching softball and basketball at both the middle and high school levels, including multiple championship and state appearances. While this is her first year stepping away from coaching, she has embraced the opportunity to invest more deeply in leading FCA and pouring into students in a new way. Outside of school, Angela enjoys spending time with her family, friends, and her dachshund, Gilly.

Angela's faith journey began at a young age after being discipled by her children's church pastor and supported by her family. While she built a strong foundation early on, it was during a pivotal experience serving at a Christian camp in college that God made her calling clear—to invest in the lives of students and disciple the next generation. Through those moments, Angela grew in confidence and purpose, learning the importance of pouring into others just as others had poured into her. Today, she lives out that calling through FCA, creating a space where students can grow in their faith, ask questions, and discover how God can use every part of their story for His glory. Angela is passionate about helping students see that they are God's workmanship, created with purpose, and called to live out His plan in every season of life.

Insider Access

February was a month of connection and encouragement as huddles continued to grow across campuses. Students and coaches stepped into leadership, living out their faith and supporting one another well. It was a powerful reminder that God is at work through everyday moments and relationships.

March is shaping up to be an unforgettable month as we prepare for our biggest fundraiser of the year—the FCA Banquet. This year’s theme, Overcome, will center on powerful stories of perseverance and faith, as three professional athletes share their testimonies of overcoming significant physical obstacles, following Christ through those challenges, and using their platforms to point others to Him while pursuing their athletic dreams.

During this special evening, we will also honor student-athletes and coaches who have made a lasting impact for Christ both on and off the field. It will be a night of inspiration, celebration, and vision as we come together to witness how God is moving and to support the mission ahead.
