A LUXURIOUS ESCAPE IN VALLE DE BRAVO

IT'S A HOUSE, NOT A HOTEL.

Tucked away amongst the cobblestone streets of the historic town center, LA CASA RODAVENTO invites guests to discover a highly personalized hospitality experience where each space has been carefully considered to evoke a deep sense of home.

Here the days start without a rush,
conversations carry across the table,
and every spot invites you to explore and stay a little longer.

WHERE HISTORY MEETS DESIGN.

LA CASA RODAVENTO is a beautifully restored historic home that combines natural materials with contemporary architecture, capturing the authentic spirit of traditional Valle.

Once the private residence of the RODAVENTO owners, every space carries a unique and palpable essence, exuding a character that is warm, understated, and timeless.

THE ART OF STAYING

ONLY SEVEN SUITES

With only seven suites, every stay offers a level of privacy and attention that goes far beyond a conventional hotel.

Visitors are welcomed not simply as guests, but as friends of the home who are known by name.

Each suite is uniquely designed, offering its own distinct layout and features. Depending on the specific suite, guests will find private terraces, quiet interior patios, rooftops with town views, or deep bathtubs, alongside spacious lounging areas that invite them to read, relax, and simply stay a little longer.

EAT & DRINK

A TABLE SET FOR NOURISHING CONVERSATIONS

More than a restaurant, LA CASA RODAVENTO is a space for shared experiences. Our kitchen crafts menus around seasonal ingredients and thoughtful pairings, focusing entirely on the simple pleasure of connecting and breaking bread with others.

Every meal leaves a quiet desire to prolong the moment and spend even more time together."

CHEF

ALBERTO COLIN

Chef Alberto Colín’s passion for cooking began in his family’s kitchen, where he learned the foundations of traditional Mexican cuisine from his grandmother. At the age of 14, he moved to New York City and began his professional career at Vong, one of renowned chef Jean-Georges Vongerichten’s restaurants in Manhattan.

His talent and dedication led him to rise through every station of the kitchen, eventually becoming Sous Chef. He continued developing his experience at several acclaimed Jean-Georges restaurants, including The Mercer Kitchen, Spice Market, ABC Kitchen, Jean-Georges, JoJo and The Mark Restaurant, where he served as Executive Sous Chef and oversaw private events for prominent guests and international celebrities.

After 13 years in the United States—including three years creating high-end events for Relish Catering—Chef Alberto returned to Mexico and joined La Casa Rodavento. Today, as Executive Chef, he brings together international technique, creativity and the traditional Mexican flavors that first inspired his culinary journey
