On behalf of the Chief, Command, and all members of the Toronto Police Service, welcome to the 10th Annual East Asian Internal Support Network Golf Tournament.

My name is Ryan Forde, Superintendent with the Toronto Police Service and Senior Advisor to the East Asian Internal Support Network (EA-ISN).

The Toronto Police Service understands that our greatest strength is our people. Fostering a workplace where every member feels valued, respected, and included is fundamental to our success. When our members are supported and empowered to grow both personally and professionally, they are better positioned to serve our communities with excellence.

The EA-ISN is a voluntary, member driven group that support self identified communities within the Service. This network provides opportunities for members to share experiences, exchange information, give and receive mentorship and guidance. By fostering meaningful connections, they help our members grow both personally and professionally while strengthening the Toronto Police Service as a whole.

In much the same way, police officers to their communities through connection and engagement. Some of the most impactful initiatives are those that bring Police Officers and community members together through meaningful interaction. These relationships help build trust and foster understanding, and create strong partnerships that contribute to safer, more resilient communities. Through events such as today's golf tournament, we have an opportunity to strengthen those relationships and continue working together toward a common goal.

My name is Rob Choe, and I am an Inspector with the Toronto Police Service and a Senior Advisor for our EA-ISN.

At the Toronto Police Service, we rely on and celebrate our members every day. Each person plays a vital role in our organization, and we are committed to fostering a workplace where every member feels respected, included, and empowered to succeed. Through the Service's many Internal Support Networks, including the EA-ISN, members can connect with colleagues, share experiences, find mentorship opportunities, and support one another in their personal and professional growth.

As policing professionals, we serve our communities each day, but some of the most meaningful and impactful moments occur when we have the opportunity to connect directly with the people we serve. These conversations and personal interactions help build trust, deepen understanding, and create lasting partnerships.

Our Charity Golf Tournament is a celebration of those connections. It brings together community members, business leaders, and Service members in a welcoming environment where new relationships are formed, existing partnerships are strengthened, and support is generated for important charitable initiatives. We are honoured to have you join us and sincerely thank you for helping make a positive difference in our community.

The Toronto Police Service - East Asian Internal Support Network (EA-ISN) is honored to host the 10th Annual EA-ISN Charity Golf Tournament, celebrating the strong connections between our community and internal members.

This year, we are proud to organize this event to raise funds for two remarkable organizations: the Yee Hong Community Wellness Foundation, which provides care for seniors and supports cultural heritage; and the 31 Division Community Police Liaison Committee's Student Leadership Bursary Awards Program, which empowers post-secondary students to pursue their education and career goals.

Beyond raising funds, this tournament serves as a platform to strengthen the relationship between the police and the community, fostering trust and collaboration. By participating, you are helping to build a more inclusive and supportive environment for all.

We sincerely thank all participants, sponsors, and supporters for your generous contributions. Your involvement plays a crucial role in uniting our community and ensuring these vital organizations continue their impactful work.

It is a privilege for the 31 Division Community Police Liaison Committee (CPLC) to participate in and support this important initiative. Youth education and employment have been identified as key service priorities for the 31 Division CPLC. One significant challenge faced by today's youth is the lack of marketable skills needed for sustainable employment. In response, the CPLC has created the Student Leadership Bursary Awards to support post-secondary students in gaining these valuable skills through further education and apprenticeship programs.

Your support of this year's East Asian – Internal Support Network (EA-ISN) Charity Golf Tournament will directly contribute to creating a positive and lasting impact on the lives of our youth.

Thank you,

YEE HONG COMMUNITY
WELLNESS FOUNDATION

A Message from Yee Hong Community Wellness Foundation

On behalf of Yee Hong Community Wellness Foundation, we are honoured to be named the beneficiary of the 10th annual Toronto Police Service East Asian Internal Support Network Charity Golf Tournament. We extend our heartfelt thanks to the officers, staff, and volunteers for their generosity and for choosing to support the seniors and families served by Yee Hong Centre for Geriatric Care.

The work of the Toronto Police Service reaches far beyond public safety. For the seniors in our care, many of whom face language and cultural barriers, a compassionate and culturally responsive police presence brings profound peace of mind.

Officers who understand and reflect the communities they serve help seniors feel safe reporting concerns, recognizing scams and elder abuse, and trusting that help will come when they need it most. This trust is not easily built, but the East Asian Internal Support Network has done extraordinary work fostering it.

Proceeds from today's tournament will directly support Yee Hong's mission of providing culturally appropriate, high-quality care to seniors across the Greater Toronto Area, including long-term care, hospice, and community support services relied upon by thousands of families each year. Every dollar raised helps us sustain and expand these essential services for some of our community's most vulnerable seniors.

Your commitment to service, both on the golf course today and every day on our streets and in our communities, makes a lasting difference in the lives of the seniors we serve.

Thank you for standing with us, and for standing with our seniors.
With gratitude and respect,

Dr. Joseph Wong
