About ITF

International Throwball Federation (ITF)

The ITF is the global governing body for the sport of Throwball. Headquartered in India, ITF is dedicated to standardizing the rules, promoting the sport across continents and organizing international level tournament and referee certifications. The federation works to bring together national bodies from around the world, ensuring uniformity in gameplay, coaching, and officiating. With its growing presence in countries like the India, Sri Lanka, USA, Australia, Switzerland, France, Canada, New Zealand, Brazil, Singapore, and 22 more countries. ITF's mission is to gain international recognition for throwball and eventually include it in major global sporting events. ITF's efforts are instrumental in giving athletes a clear roadmap from grassroots participation to elite, international competition.

ITF's Future Goal

- The International Throwball Federation (ITF) envisions a future where Throwball is recognized as a globally competitive sport, played and celebrated across continents. One of ITF's primary goals is to achieve official recognition by international sports authorities such as the International Olympic Committee (IOC) and to pave the way for Throwball's inclusion in continental games and, eventually, the Olympics.
- ITF is working towards creating a standardized global framework for the sport, which includes coaching certification, referee pathways, structured national leagues, and international championships.
- ITF aims to provide athletes with professional growth opportunities, enabling them to represent their countries and compete at the highest level.
- The long-term vision is to transform Throwball from a niche sport into a widely played and respected international discipline.

Throwball: A Team Sport on the Rise

Throwball is a fast-paced, team sport that blends elements of volleyball and netball, focusing on athleticism, coordination, and teamwork. Played between two teams of seven players on a rectangular court with a net in the center, the objective is to catch and throw the ball over the net within three seconds, aiming to make it land in the opponent's court. Unlike volleyball, players are not allowed to volley or hit the ball; instead, they must catch and throw it with precision and control.

Throwball promotes quick reflexes, strategic thinking, and team communication, making it an exciting and inclusive sport for players of all ages and skill levels.

Why try Throwball?

Fun & Fast-Paced

A dynamic sport that keeps you moving and engaged from start to finish.

Objective

The primary objective of this camp is to build a strong foundation in throwball, both for players and aspiring referees, by providing structured training, exposure to standard rules and techniques in throwball.

In this camp, players and referees will have the unique opportunity to be coached by officials of International Throwball Federation (ITF). ITF is the global governing body for throwball, and coaches bring in-depth expertise and experience to the camp.

Official Training: Receive guidance on the standardized rules and techniques followed at international levels.

Expert feedback: Benefit from the knowledge of top-level coaches who have worked with national and international teams.

Quality Standards: Learn the same strategies, training methods, and skills that are used at the highest level of competition.

Certification : Potential for receiving certification or endorsement recognized by ITF, enhancing your credibility in the sport.

This unique coaching experience will not only improve your skills but also provide a competitive edge when participating in local league games, regional tournaments, and even national and international level events.

Why Play, Promote and popularize?

Physical Education

Often referred to as the 'Flying Game,' this sport encourages agility, fitness, and body control, making it an ideal and engaging activity for children, adolescents, and adults in schools, colleges, and universities alike

Social Education

With simple gameplay rules and minimal equipment, just a ball and a net, this game is accessible and enjoyable for people of all genders, age groups, and economic backgrounds, thereby fostering a sense of social unity among its players.

Management Education

As a game that relies on planning, strategy, and coordinated play, it is enjoyed by both working professionals and recreational community players alike, promoting team building, effective communication, and strong execution skills among its participants.

Why Play, Promote and popularize?

Health Education

Research and studies highlight this game as a promising way to enhance physical health through the movement and exercise of various body parts, while also supporting mental well-being by engaging both sides of the brain during gameplay

The Advantages

- Throwball is a short-duration game with a total playing time of just 50 minutes.
- It can be played both indoors and outdoors.
- It is one of the least expensive sports, requiring only a ball and a net.
- Throwball is a safe sport with very low chances of injury compared to other games.
