

Leading from the back of the pack

BRON WILLIAMS

SPEAKER | AUTHOR | PhD RESEARCH

Workshop Outcomes

Format: In person or online
Duration: 2 hours
Workbook provided

1. Recognise and Own Your Leadership Style.

Participants will recognise and celebrate their unique, instinctual leadership style, gaining confidence in how they lead themselves and others. This will empower them to lead with greater intentionality and authenticity, using their natural strengths in leadership situations.

2. Understand the Power of Self-Leadership.

Participants will learn the importance of leading themselves well before leading others, through stories of inspiring women like Susan La Flesche Picotte. This outcome will encourage them to trust their intuition and honor their values, which are crucial for effective self-leadership.

3. Identify and Confront Unconscious Bias.

Participants will develop a deeper understanding of how unconscious bias shapes their perceptions, decisions, and interactions. They will leave with strategies to identify their biases and take steps to reduce their influence, promoting fairer decision-making in their personal and professional lives.

Workshop Outcomes

4. Embrace and Celebrate Personal Differences.

Participants will reflect on their own lives and celebrate what makes them different, recognising that their unique experiences and qualities are sources of power. They will learn to value and articulate their differences and use them to enhance their leadership.

5. Reclaim and Trust Your Inner Power.

By the end of the workshop, participants will reconnect with their intrinsic power, learning to trust their intuition in both personal and professional settings. They will leave with practical strategies for “plugging back in” to their personal power and taking charge of their lives and decisions.

Bron Williams

Bron is a passionate and powerful advocate for women's leadership, deeply committed to empowering women in all facets of life.

A seasoned speaker with a strong focus on topics like leadership and unconscious bias, she uses her personal experiences and insights to inspire and guide others.

"Superheroes in Disguise" reflects her mission to help women recognise and embrace their innate power, challenging social norms and encouraging self-reflection.

Her work is aimed at creating meaningful change in the corporate world, particularly in Asia, by helping women in leadership roles to write their own stories and lead with confidence.

MINDZALLERA

Unilever

GESB
SUPERANNUATION

Sport Inclusion
AUSTRALIA

Australian Government
Department of Agriculture,
Water and the Environment

Captives
Forum

Professional
Speakers
Australia

Contact Bron Williams:

Based in Melbourne, Australia
Delivering Nationally & Globally, Virtually & In-Person

+61 (0) 416 328 879

info@bronwilliams.com

<https://www.linkedin.com/in/bron-williams/>

