This past month has been a busy one for IAMHP, the Medicaid Managed Care Organizations and all those who work in the Medicaid space. As we find ourselves less than one month away from the start of redeterminations in Illinois, we are working overtime to ensure Medicaid members, providers, community organizations and industry partners are prepared and informed. And while this herculean task has taken precedence, we remain committed to strengthening the Medicaid program. The foundation for that is healthcare coverage and here in Illinois, managed care is crucial to that equation. That is why IAMHP took time this past month to highlight the importance of value-based care and care coordination when working to address social influencers of health and improve health outcomes here in Illinois.

So stay tuned! Here’s a round up of IAMHP’s content from this past month to catch up on.

As always, be well and stay safe.
The IAMHP Team

Did you catch it?
Your one-stop-shop for the content IAMHP shared over the past month!

How TwentyEight Health is Working to Improve Health Outcomes for Low-Income Women
Bruno Van Tuykom, Co-Founder and CEO of TwentyEight Health, an IAMHP Trusted Partner, is back to talk about how his telemedicine company is working to improve health outcomes in low-income, underserved, and under-resourced communities.

Breaking Down Governor Pritzker’s Budget Address and What It Means for Medicaid
IAMHP Legislative Consultant, John Lewder, returns to the podcast to talk about the governor’s recent budget address and what it means for the Medicaid program here in Illinois.

How Medicaid Managed Care Organizations Prioritize Value-Based Care and Why it Matters
Jennifer Sprague, LTSS Manager at Molina HealthCare of Illinois, talks to Samantha about the importance of value-based care and care coordination.

How Qartek is Meeting the Need for Advanced Engagement during Medicaid Redeterminations
Isaac Palmer, CEO of Qartek, an IAMHP Trusted Partner, joins the podcast for a very timely discussion on how they are working to meet the increased need of advanced outreach and engagement for the Medicaid program during the redetermination period here in Illinois.

How MTM Continues to Address Social Influencers of Health Through Transportation
Phil Stalboerger, VP of Public Affairs at MTM, an IAMHP Trusted Partner, returns to the podcast to discuss how MTM continues to address social influencers of health through transportation.

Qartek Presents on Redeterminations in Illinois
This webinar covers advancements in technology that help to meet the increased need for outreach and engagement during this critical time, while taking into account potential barriers like social influencers of health.