A BRIEF HISTORY OF WINE IN SICILY

Winemaking has been present in Sicily since the first inhabitants settled there around the 12th century BC, however it was the Greeks and Romans who brought new technology and techniques that now define the landscape (i.e. amphorae and ancient bush vines).

Fast forward to today and we find the Sicilian wine renaissance in full effect, although this wasn’t always the case. During the early 20th century, winemaking in Sicily consisted largely of low quality and mass-produced wines. However, since the 1980’s there have been a handful of thoughtful producers that began making soulful and introspective wines meant to express the beauty, diversity and history of Sicily. It is this diversity and thoughtfulness that gives Sicily a special place in our hearts. Below you will find our musings on the different wines and winemakers we carry from Sicily. Hope you enjoy the journey as much as we have! Cheers!

THE WINE REGIONS OF SICILY

Sicily has 4 main wine growing regions, each with its own unique soil, grape varieties and iconic producers. Our love for these wines is evidenced by the nearly thirty Sicilian references on our list, representing the 4 major regions and covering the stylistic spectrum of still wines: skin contact (orange), rose, white and red.

MT. ETNA (EASTERN SICILY)

What makes Mt. Etna such a unique region for wine? Volcanic soil, high elevation and coastal proximity, alongside indigenous grape varieties and almost 3,000 yrs of winemaking history. If that wasn’t enough, they are also sitting on the flanks of Europe’s most active volcano!

Nerello Mascalese, Nerello Cappuccio, Carricante, Minella & Grecanico Dorato are the shining stars of viticulture on Mt. Etna. These varieties can be found in single bottlings as well as blended into elegant and complex cuvées. Although this region is quite singular, there are many parallels that can be drawn to Burgundy, such as micro-parcels called ‘Caselle’ and age-worthy whites and reds. Mt. Etna is one of the few wine regions in the world to sit on a UNESCO World Heritage Site.

CERASUOLO DI VITTORIA
(SOUTH-EASTERN SICILY)

In the southern province of Ragusa, lies Sicily’s one and only DOGC, Cerasuolo di Vittoria. Cerasuolo, which means cherry in Italian, is a fitting name for the region as the wines can often express bright cherry aromas and flavors. Two grape varieties reign supreme here, Nero d’Avola and Frappato.

Our selection from this region is dominated by two of our favorite producers in all of Sicily, and they happen to be from the same family. COS, founded by Giusto Occhipinti and his two fellow winemakers whose initials create the winery name, is one of the pioneers of low intervention winemaking in the region and is largely responsible for reviving the appellation and gaining DOGC status. Ariana Occhipinti, his niece, was inspired by her uncle’s philosophy on winemaking and has now become a regional star on her own. Her wines are a prime example of the soul of Vittoria.

If you find yourself in the area, the Occhipinti family runs a small boutique hotel converted from the original family home and winemaking facility called Baglio Occhipinti. Everyone should treat themselves to such a magical place at least once in their lives.

MARSALA (NORTH-WESTERN SICILY)

The fortified coastal town of Marsala was first established in the 4th century B.C. and has been an important wine growing region since the time of the Romans. In modern times, Marsala has been most famous for its fortified and oxidative wines similar in style to Spanish sherry, which represent the bulk of the production from this region. That being said, the wines we love are mostly dry, still wines made from indigenous varieties such as Catarratto, Grillo and Inzolia. Lush fruit from the hot climate and saline notes from the coastal influence and local salt flats gives the whites of this region a savory flair that will make any seafood dish swoon.

Fun Fact: Flamingos can often be seen feeding in the salt flats of Trapani as a stop on their annual migratory route from North Africa to Mainland Europe.

PANTELLERIA (ALMOST TUNISIA)

Pantelleria is a tiny, wind-swept volcanic island nestled in the middle of the Mediterranean Sea half-way between Sicily and Tunisia. The wines we carry from Pantelleria are a direct result of their environment: sun kissed, vibrant and wild. The 100+ yr old bush-trained vines of the Serragghia vineyards are located on one of the highest points of the island at the foot of a dormant volcano and tended to dutifully by wine-maker Gabrio Bini, who is as eccentric as his wines are. Long maceration in amphorae buried directly in the vineyards gives each of these wine a personality much larger than the miniscule production would belie.

In the world of low-intervention wine these bottlings are considered unicorns... this is your chance to discover how delicious unicorns truly are.

WINE MUSINGS...

(The why behind our what)

Welcome to a list of some of our favorite things! Bubbles are a fit for every occasion- great and small, serious and frivolous. Rosé is all day. We have wines of historical importance and wines with quaffability. They are fun and sometimes serious.

Like our dining menu; we celebrate the farmers, artisans, and purveyors who pay respect to the land. The wines we pick are not only delicious but practice sustainability. We choose our list with at least sustainable/organic practices—with a heavy lean into lower intervention wines: practices that are so old school that they are new again.
