FR. DON'S MUSINGS

I sure enjoyed our big combined Mass and "picnic" (indoors) last weekend! This is a great church family. Thank you for your part in helping us to be who we are. I especially appreciated the combined choir under the direction of Suz Ruddock. Wow, they really had a lot of enthusiasm and energy. And Debbie Henkelman coordinated the picnic and was so calm about the change in preparations to do it indoors. I appreciated all the high schoolers and middle schoolers who helped with the set up/take down as well as leading the carnival games. Great young people. It's a joy to serve at St. Clare Church.

This weekend is our men's ACTS retreat. A team of 24 men have been preparing for this weekend for 4 months. It's a great weekend experience for the men who are attending. For many men, this weekend can be a life-changing experience in their faith-life and their family life. We'll conclude the retreat at our 10:45 Mass, and the men and their families will share a meal after Mass. Please continue to keep them in your prayers.

I ended up pretty sick early this week. Thankfully, parishioners prayed over me after the morning Mass and I recovered unusually quickly. I praise God for the power of prayer. Often I am called to pray over people for healing, but this time I needed the healing, and people stepped forward and prayed over me. Good stuff!

Let's keep praying for one another.

—Fr. Don

Isaiah teaches that while God's thoughts and ways are far beyond our understanding, the Lord is nonetheless near to us. When do you feel closest to God?

2nd Reading

As Paul writes to the Philippians from prison, he speaks of his spiritual dilemma of feeling caught between life and death. Who do you turn to for spiritual guidance?

Gospel Reading

In the parable of the workers in the vineyard, Jesus teaches that in the kingdom of Heaven, God's generosity is not always easily understood. Where do you see God's generosity at work among your family or friends?

OUTREACH

THANK YOU!

For a Wonderful One Mass "Social!"

A heartfelt thank you to everyone who helped make this year's St. Clare One Mass Social such a wonderful success! Although the rain moved our traditional picnic indoors, it didn't dampen our community's spirit. It was a beautiful day filled with laughter, good food, fellowship, and smiling faces.

A special thank you to our amazing volunteers who gave their time and talents, and to our generous community partners—Fujii Produce, Baenen Family, Safeway, and ChefStore—for helping make this celebration possible.

After eight years of coordinating the Picnic/Social, I am happy to pass this special tradition on to Sarah Newman and Mike Curry. Please support them as they take the lead in continuing this beloved parish event!

It has been such a joy to bring our parish community together over the years. I look forward to enjoying the day with all of you next year and seeing where Sarah and Mike take this wonderful tradition.

Thank you, St. Clare Community!

THIS AND THAT FROM DEACON BILL

THE CHRISTIAN CHALLENGE OF WITHHOLDING JUDGEMENT

I worked for a newspaper –New York City's Daily News– for many years. One stark headline I remember from that time was evoked by this week's Gospel readings. The headline took up a full page, with no photo images. It ran on June 12th, 2001.

"Burn in Hell."

The headline marked the execution of domestic terrorist Timothy McVeigh, who achieved infamy as the "Oklahoma City Bomber." His horrendous act on April 19th, 1994, committed with a truck bomb, took the lives of 168 people and injured over 600 others. There was general societal agreement that with McVeigh's death by lethal injection, justice was served.

The question becomes: does the execution of even the most heinous individuals constitute justice? Catholics know the answer, no.

Isaiah 55:6-9 makes no bones about it: God's ways are not our ways, God's thoughts are not ours, and the distance separating our ways from God's is greater than we can imagine. That proclamation had to upset not only Isaiah, but all prophets, preachers, teachers, and anyone who believes they can pass judgments reserved in biblical theology for God and God alone.

When we consider Isaiah's message, we encounter an inescapable dimension of our human condition: our limited ability to judge rightly.

Isaiah's Gospel starts when a landlord pays the same wage to a late-in-the-day hire as he pays to a worker who has worked in the hot sun all day. When the worker with a full day under his belt gripes, the landlord replies, "Are you envious because I am generous?"

In the worker's shoes, many of us would answer in the affirmative. The reason? It's not fair. But think of it: this "prodigal employer's" gesture to the new hire is symbolic of God's unfathomable, immeasurable generosity.

Life is often unfair. Some people, blessed with ambition and creativity, never get to utilize their talents and gifts in service to others. Some of us are born into circumstances that provide opportunities and privilege, while the fate of others leaves them bereft of hopes and dreams.

Apostle Paul, referenced in the second reading, says, "Christ will be magnified in my body." Paul has begun to experience God's ways, Christian vocation begins with the grace of knowing God's ways; we receive that grace from the sacraments, especially the Eucharist. By receiving Christ, we become like Christ, and strive to go forth into the world with an acceptance, if no full understanding, of God's ways.

In Isaiah 55:6-9, Jesus seems to be saying that while the devout may do everything right, come to Mass on Sunday, pray, attend novenas and retreats, extend kindness and generosity to our neighbors, and make that supreme Christian leap to loving our enemies, the egregious sinner, people like mass murderer McVeigh, can yet hope for forgiveness and the reward of Heaven.

This most challenging tenet of Catholicism and Christianity threatens our sense of worldly justice. But we strive to accept that the way of God's kingdom are high above the human capacity for understanding.

We are called to go out into God's marketplace –this world. To show that we are believers by our words and actions. An important part of accepting this task is a divinely inspired opportunity to bring news of the eternal reward God offers, at the end of our workdays, and at the end of our earthly lives.

Isaiah's Gospel tells us that God's way will challenge ours –always. Are scourges on humanity like Adolf Hitler, Saddam Hussein, Joseph Stalin, the 9/11 terrorists, and Timothy McVeigh, (the list is sadly endless) currently residing in that place we call Hell?

God's way make clear that final judgement, even of the worst of humanity's worst, is not our call or concern –it's God's call. As a rule of thumb, we might sum it all up by saying that when we yell, "It's not fair!" our next refrain should be one we have heard Pope Francis tell us many times "Who am I to judge?"
