Rising Voices: LGBTQIA2S+ A Co-Production with the Union for Contemporary Art FALL 2027

We have exciting news! Performance dates have been set for our next Rising Voices production. Our play centering the experiences of our LGBTQIA2S+ neighbors will premiere at the Shirley Tyree Theatre on Oct. 7th, 2027 for a two week engagement followed by a weekend of performances in community spaces. We are incredibly honored to be partnering with the Union for Contemporary Art. Follow us on social media for updates on the process and profiles of the creative team.

Art from the Inside

Our restorative justice program director Nature Medicine Song Jackson performed some of her new poetry at the annual Art from the Inside events in Omaha and Lincoln. These events showcase visual art created by people inside Nebraska prisons. We are so proud of the many ways Nature advocates for change with her artistic talents.

New UNO Study Challenges Assumptions About Recidivism

"Criminal History's Expiration Date" by a team of researchers of UNO analyzed 40 years of records covering 16 million people. Contrary to popular belief, the vast majority of individuals charged with a crime were never charged again. Risk of reoffense across all charges converges with the general population at 9 nine years. This study has profound implications for sentencing, probation, and parole reform.

Circle of Healing Arts

Our first Circle of Healing Arts cohorts in Omaha and Lincoln are half way through the eight-week series. Each week the brave women in these circles share their joys and struggles, support each other and find deep healing. Each woman brings her unique feminine wisdom to the space through dialogue, creative writing and visual art. We will offer Circle of Healing Arts again in the spring.

Details coming soon.

We have set the dates and times for our Community Celebrations!
This is an opportunity for the community to come together and experience the amazing art we created as part of our cohort. Join us in Omaha on November 10, and in Lincoln on November 12. To sign up and for more information click the links below!

The Mission

Anastasis amplifies the power of story. We gather, create, and dialogue with the community around art that centers the impacts of the legal system on our collective well-being. We cultivate communal experiences where personal and cultural transformation will seed a more just future for us all.
