

Manager's Minute

Hello Chickasaw Garage family!

March is here, and this is the final month for Brakes for Kids. We'd love to finish strong and raise some great money for St. Jude Children's Research Hospital. We are very proud to be partnering with shops across the country to support this incredible cause—every brake service helps kids fighting cancer, and that's something we're truly passionate about.

We also want to wish Andy a very happy birthday this month and celebrate a huge milestone—35 years at Chickasaw Garage! Andy has been a big part of our family and honestly feels like a big brother to me. I'm extremely thankful for his dedication and friendship. Thank you for everything you do, Andy!

On a personal note, my wife Stacey and I celebrate our wedding anniversary on March 5. Happy anniversary, Stacy! Cheers to many more years (and thanks for putting up with me.)

And finally, spring is right around the corner! After this long, cold winter, we're all looking forward to warmer weather, road trips, and not scraping ice off windshields. It's also a great time to have your vehicle checked over after winter wear and tear so you can enjoy the season worry free.

Thank you for being part of the Chickasaw Garage family—we truly appreciate your trust and support.

Sincerely,
Ted Heitbrink

AAA'S 5-POINT CHECKLIST FOR SPRING CAR MAINTENANCE

After a long, cold winter, temperatures are rising and the open road is beckoning. Before you pack the picnic basket and take a drive with the windows down, use this five-point checklist for spring car maintenance to make sure nothing interrupts your day!

1. TEST YOUR CAR BATTERY - Winter's chill makes your battery work harder and saps its strength, shortening its lifespan. Most of the time, there's no warning that your battery is about to die. Since the battery is the life force of your vehicle, when it fails, you're stuck!

2. CHANGE YOUR OIL AND FILTER - Winter weather is hard on your vehicle's oil and filter. Cold temperatures can cause your oil to become thicker and flow slowly, putting a lot of stress on your engine. Once the chill leaves the air, it's the perfect time to schedule an oil change to keep your engine purring like a spring kitten.

3. CHECK YOUR TIRE PRESSURE - Winter weather causes tires to become underinflated, and low tire pressure can be dangerous. As you head into springtime, it's important to check the pressure (PSI) of your tires in the morning before you start your car. Check your owner's manual to make sure the pressure readings match the recommended tire pressure for your vehicle.

4. REFILL YOUR TRANSMISSION FLUID - Winter wreaks havoc on your car's transmission, which can lead to very costly repairs. If it gets too cold, the parts contract, causing damage and leaking of transmission fluid. Plus, the fluid can thicken in chilly weather, reducing its ability to lubricate interior parts, causing further damage. In spring, check the transmission fluid level and refill if needed.

5. REPLACE YOUR WINDSHIELD WIPER BLADES - Frosty temperatures, ice, and snow damage wiper blades making them warp, bend, crack, and tear. Be sure to replace this important safety component in spring to ensure you can see clearly.
