

THE NEW THEATRE SCHOLARSHIP GUILD

January 2026

Guild Board of Directors and Guest Holiday Luncheon

The Milburn Country Club was the setting for the Guild Board of Directors' annual Holiday Luncheon. Fifty board members, past presidents, and guests gathered to enjoy a wonderful lunch prepared by the club. Special guest was Jim O'Heir, starring in the current New Theatre & Restaurant performance, Nobody's Perfect.

A cherished tradition continued as Dr. Ed See, a longtime member and dedicated supporter of the Guild, delighted guests with his annual reading of "A Visit from St. Nicholas" by Clement Clarke Moore—a highlight that never disappoints. The festive afternoon concluded with special entertainment provided by the Do Over Duo band. Absent from the group was President Seth McClintock, who was hospitalized. Jackie Stokes, Vice President, presided in his absence.

BEHIND THE SCENES: MEET & GREET

Members of the New Theatre Scholarship Guild gathered at the New Theatre & Restaurant to sip wine, enjoy savory bites, and reconnect with friends before heading behind the curtain for an insider's look at the theatre. Executive Director Doug Woolery, who has been in the position since 2014, shared laugh-out-loud and jaw-dropping stories from his years in the business, while Company Manager Jenny O'Leary offered a glimpse into the lively world of managing actors, costumes, and backstage buzz. Jenny even modeled several costumes she had personally stitched for past performances, bringing the behind-the-scenes experience to life.
