Gobin Church To Host Hunger Documentary

Gobin Church in cooperation with Bread for the World, a Christian organization working to end hunger through advocacy, will host a screening of the Emmy nominated documentary The Working Hungry. This 30-minute film tells the story of three families struggling with food insecurity in Indiana and explains why systemic solutions are needed to make sure that no family experiences hunger in our communities. This film has been shown over 50 times in the state of Indiana, and this will be the first showing in Putnam County.

The screening will occur on Sept. 6th at 6:30pm at Gobin Church located at 307 Simpson St. Greencastle.

Following the film screening a discussion will take place involving local individuals directly connected with those who are food insecure in Putnam County.

For more information, please contact Gobin Church at gobin@gobinumc.org or call 765-658-6010.
