About Us

Chad Love Media and the "Date With Destiny" Tour

Chad Love's journey is one of resilience and inspiration. Having faced immense challenges—including the loss of both parents, depression, and homelessness—Chad transformed his life through education. Graduating from Brunel University in 2011 with a degree in Political Science, he built a successful career in tech, earning around £170,000 a year and achieving remarkable milestones, such as owning a home in Shoreditch and living on Chelsea's prestigious Cheyne Walk.

Now a full-time CEO & Founder of Health & Wellness Technology firm, Chad Love Media AI is touring with his own motivational entertainment brand, Chad is dedicated to addressing the mental health epidemic among young people. His "Date With Destiny" Tour aims to inspire students, particularly during the freshers season, by integrating motivational talks with music, film, poetry, and dance. This innovative approach creates a dynamic and engaging experience that resonates with young audiences, encouraging young people to download the AI App and go on their own adventure of self-discovery.

Chad's upcoming album, produced by world-renowned Michael Piroli—known for his work with artists like Playboi Carti, Rita Ora, Lil Durk and Nikki Minaj—will further amplify his message of hope and empowerment. Michael is a triple platinum winner.

As part of a massive advertising drive, Chad Love Media is launching billboards in high-traffic areas like Notting Hill, along with posters across major UK cities and an extensive social media campaign on platforms like TikTok, Instagram, and YouTube. Followers are encouraged to subscribe to the AI wellness App, Chad Love AI for just £9.99 a month, gaining access to Mental Health support and exclusive content that supports their journey toward achieving their dreams and changing the stigma surrounding mental health and obesity.

Join Chad Love on this transformative journey and be part of a movement that empowers young people to overcome barriers and embrace their potential.
