The People We Are Becoming

Dear Friends and Family at FBC Hillsborough,

There is a classic book published more than a century ago, In His Steps, which tells the story of a pastor who challenged his congregation to ask the question, "What would Jesus do?" in their daily lives whenever faced with a difficult decision. In the story, the challenge was prompted by a stranger who visited the congregation one Sunday morning. The result was a transformation of both the congregation and its community, reflecting the spirit of Jesus' words to Nicodemus: "Unless one is born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God" (John 3:3).

In his writings, Peter Gomes, former pastor of Harvard University's Memorial Church and a professor at the university, took the question "What would Jesus do?" a step further, making it even more personal and significant: "What would Jesus have me do?" The distinction is important. Jesus lived in a time vastly different from our own, yet in many ways amazingly similar. If we profess to be Jesus' disciples, we are called to let His teachings and example guide our lives in the conditions of our own time.

As I write these words, war continues in our world, and we will have passed through another election in early November. Later in the month, we will observe Thanksgiving, a holiday when, whenever possible, we gather with family and friends to give thanks for God's blessings in our lives. But what about those to whom Jesus referred as "the least of these" (Matthew 25:40)? How mindful are we of them during such times, including those in our own midst—the lonely and overlooked, the homeless and poor, the sick and worried?

We live in a time when greed, dishonesty, injustice, prejudice, and poverty persist, while conflict and natural disasters continue to devastate human lives. Through global tools and communications, these actualities are more broadly publicized and visible to us than ever before. Unfortunately, such experiences are not new. They were present in the lives and experiences of those who lived in Jesus' time too. It was in this context that Jesus proclaimed the kingdom of God as the main message of His ministry.

When we pray together each week and on Sundays, as Jesus taught us, "Thy kingdom come, thy will be done, on earth as it is in heaven," let us also add a silent, personal prayer as we face the pressing issues of our time: "What would Jesus have me do?"

What can I do, within the means available to me, to help bring God's kingdom closer to reality here on earth? The answer may involve action on a worldwide, national, regional, or community level—or it may begin right in our own neighborhood. Perhapsit begins here at First Baptist Church, as we seek to serve others and extend a welcoming hand to those in our community who are searching for God's love and a church home.

May we each be willing to ask this question, listen for God's guidance, and respond in whatever ways we can as God leads us. I look forward to seeing you always.

Prayerfully,

David Morton, Pastor
FBC Hillsborough

NOVEMBER 2026

- Growing Together in Faith – Kingdom Kids

In October, the children explored parables in Matthew and John, learning to treasure God's kingdom, stay rooted in Jesus, and reflect his love through forgiveness and love for others. This month, we'll revisit the Old Testament to learn how God transformed His people and established the new covenant.

- Growing Together in Worship - Children's Church

Sharing this special worship time with the children has been a joy! Our lessons come directly from the Bible and we started in Genesis and will continue through Revelation. After each lesson, we ask four "big truth" questions to reinforce learning, and we encourage families to keep the conversation going at home:
WHO? Who appeared in this lesson?
WHAT? What took place?
WHY? Why did this happen, and how was God at work?
SO WHAT? What did we learn about God and how to live today?

Encouragement from the Deacon Ministry:
A Season of Thanksgiving and Giving

Dear Church Family,

November reminds us to pause and reflect on the many reasons we have to be thankful. Scripture reminds us, "Give thanks to the Lord, for he is good; his love endures forever" (Psalm 107:1). As we gather with family, friends, and our church family this Thanksgiving season, may we remember that gratitude is more than something we feel- it is something we live out through the way we love and serve one another.

As a church family, we are called to walk together in unity and trust, bearing one another's burdens and looking for opportunities to extend Christ's love beyond ourselves. Galatians 6:10 encourages us, "Therefore, as we have opportunity, let us do good to all people, especially to those who belong to the family of believers." Every act of generosity, whether large or small, is an opportunity to remind someone that they are seen, valued, and loved.

November also brings a Fifth Sunday, providing an opportunity for our congregation to support the Deacon Discretionary Fund on Sunday November 29, following our worship service. This fund allows the Deacon Team to respond to needs brought to the church-helping individuals within our church family as well as people in our local community. Through this ministry, we can offer practical help and, in doing so, demonstrate the love of Christ.

This Thanksgiving season may our gratitude overflow into generosity. As we give thanks for the many blessings God has given to us, may we also ask how we can be a blessing to others. "It is more blessed to give than to receive" (Acts 20:35). Together, through generosity, compassion, and a spirit of unity, may we continue to be a church that cares for one another and faithfully reflects the abounding love of Christ in our community.

With Gratitude and Love,
Crissy Wells

A Note from FBC Deacons

FBCoH Deacon Discretionary Fund (DDF)

November 29, 2026

The Deacon Discretionary Fund (DDF) Offering is collected in calendar months having a fifth Sunday. The purpose of the DDF is offering assistance in a variety of ways to the membership of the Church and to the larger community. The DDF usage guidelines include, but are not limited to the following:

1. "Contributing to the needs of the saints" (Romans 12:13). The Fund will seek to meet the needs of the church family as the Deacons become aware of such needs. When meeting needs in the church family, the Deacons will try to meet the present need in full.
2. Funding ministry/mission opportunities that address those in need in our local community or in the world. This can include particular needs the Deacons decide to address, particular ministry/mission projects in the church or community, and assisting people who engage in ministry and mission endeavors.
3. Funding evangelism, outreach, and fellowship efforts led by the Deacons.
4. Funding special needs/opportunities presented to the Deacons. DDF being a "discretionary" fund, the Deacons together can decide to consider a need/opportunity that merits attention.

For more information on DDF see "FBCoH Church Policies and Guidelines Manual"

WYLDLIFE RETURNS!

THE YOUNG LIFE MISSION STATEMENT: Introducing adolescents to Jesus Christ and helping them grow in their faith.

In the few short weeks since school started, First Baptist Church of Hillsborough has become a hub of youth ministry in town for many teenagers. They are coming to participate with their friends in weekly programs led by Young Life Ministries: Wyldlife for Grades 6 through 8 and Young Life for high school students. Teams of leaders for Orange Middle School, Eno River Middle School and Cedar Ridge High School are conducting their ministry events in Community Grounds and our youth space most weeknights and Monday mornings this fall before school. Check the church calendar for these weekly events.

Leading these programs are UNC college students who, after attending leadership and discipleship training with Young Life Ministry staff, were vetted and matched to a ministry team for a specific middle or high school in the area. They relate to the world of teenagers and are committed to relational outreach- taking the Gospel where the kids are and living it out with them through genuine relationships regardless of the student's response.

Eno River Middle School Wyldlife Team (Korah Rocha, Team Lead, 507-475-1744, 3rd from right)

Here are the basics of Young Life's program structure and activities:

Young Life (YL) is an international, non-denominational Christian ministry dedicated to mentoring and building relationships with middle school, high school and college students to introduce them to Jesus Christ and help them grow in their faith.

Wyldlife (WL) contains the YL logo in its spelling and is Young Life's version of the ministry program for Grades 6-8. It has the same format as Young Life events with developmentally appropriate themes, conversations and parent communications.

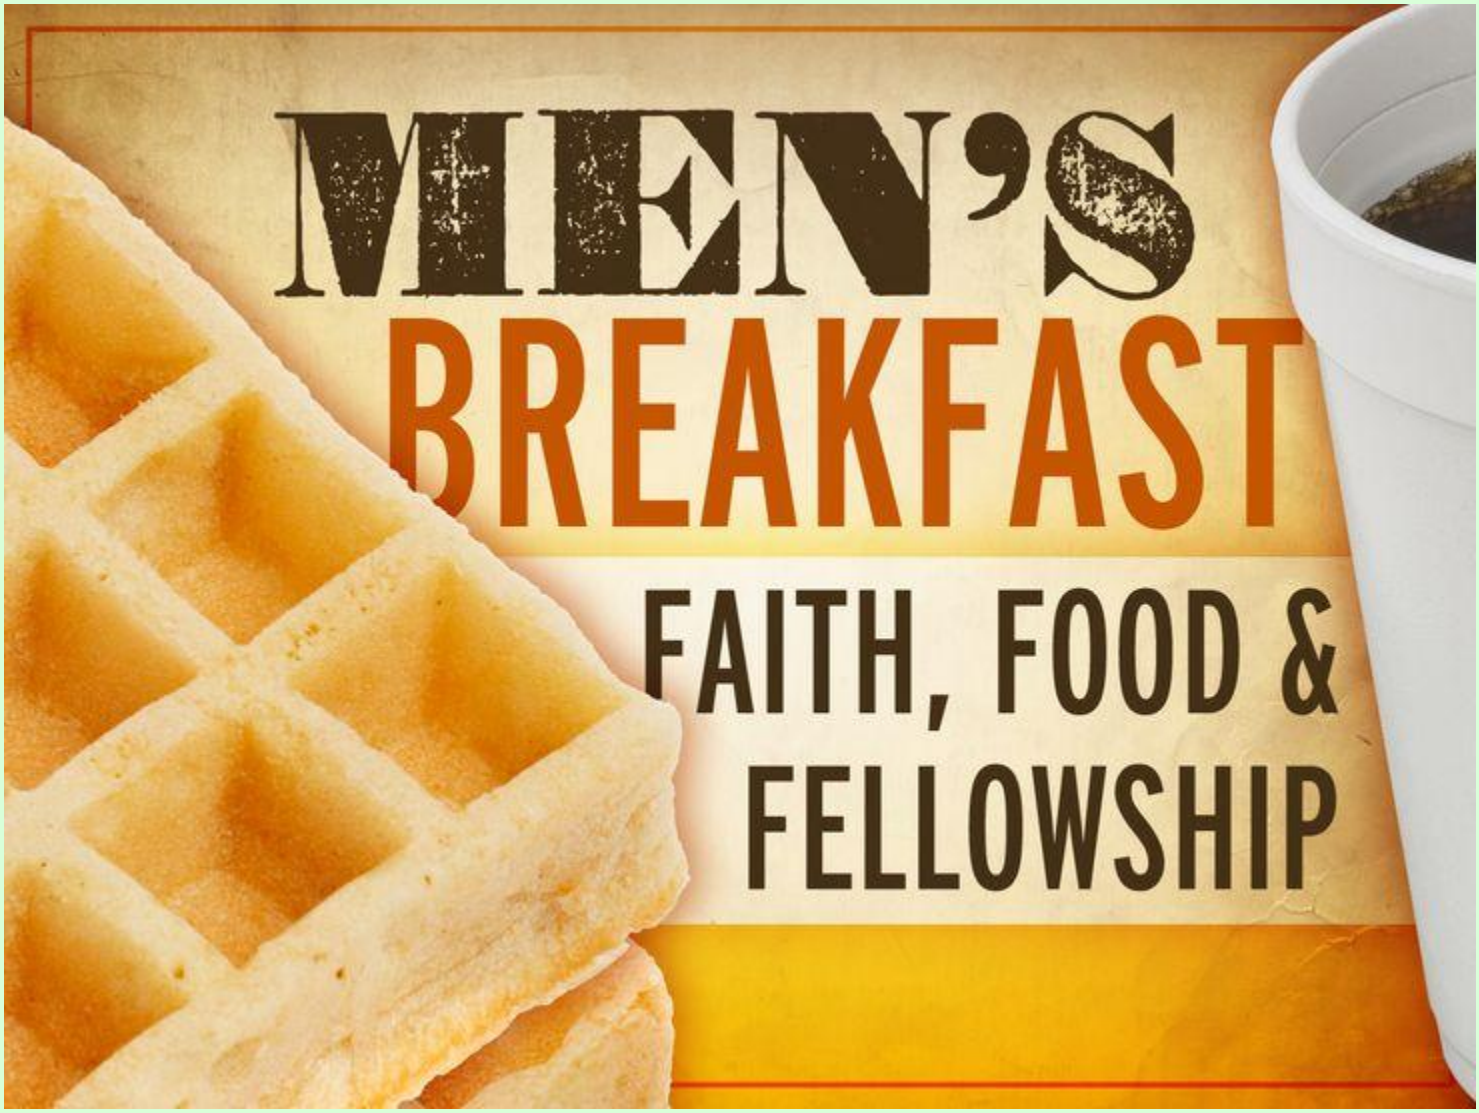

Club is a weekly program event where Wyldlife or Young Life leaders host kids and their friends for 50-60 minutes of high energy (music, games, skits, theme nights) to let kids express themselves and leaders learn about them by name. The shared experience of Club builds relationships between students and leaders who end the evening with a short talk from the Gospels, introducing Jesus' life and His personal relevance to the leader who is speaking. Kids hear songs of worship and prayer at Club often for the first time.

Campaigners is the name for YL or WL's small group Bible study gatherings. The name comes from YL's early years, known as the Young Life Campaign. Leaders host a discipleship time each week for students who are interested in a deeper dive into the Scripture they may have heard at Club. It's a time invested in growing relationships with kids and God's Word.

Camps: Students and leaders have opportunities during the year and summer to attend a Young Life camp property together, enjoy resort-like amenities, and hear engaging speakers explain the Gospel in ways that invite kids to respond.

Want to help this mission grow?

Contact Anne Brinkley (919-636-8136) or Mandy Dickerson (919-619-2648) to find ways to welcome, thank and safeguard the leaders and students who are coming to the church so they can get to know our fellowship, not just our building.

“Advent”ures

ADVENT: An Invitation to Read, Reflect, and Share

As I write this for The Messenger, I find myself amazed at how quickly the calendar is moving!

Halloween rushed at us, along with Trunk-or-Treat and all the fall festivals and other activities. Our Anniversary Sunday is quickly approaching on November 15th, Thanksgiving plans are taking shape and deer season is beginning for those who pay attention to such things. Meanwhile, a visit to Home Depot, the dollar stores, or Hobby Lobby reminds us that Christmas is already on display. Yes, Christmas is coming . . . and it will be here before we know it!

But between Thanksgiving and Christmas lies another important part of our Christian calendar: Advent.

Our Church calendar moves through seasons that help us explore and celebrate our faith. Advent begins this special cycle, followed by Christmas, Lent and Easter. Each season offers us an opportunity to pause, reflect and discover anew what our faith means in our lives.

From previous pastors, Dr. Carter often encouraged us to pause amid the Christmas preparations and give Advent the attention it deserves, just as Dr. White encouraged us to pause and remember the significance of Holy Week. Both reminders invite us to look beyond the activities surrounding a season and consider what God might be doing within us.

The tradition of Advent reaches back approximately sixteen centuries in the life of the Church—that's some 65 generations! Historically, it was a time of prayer, fasting and preparation. I must admit I'm grateful that fasting isn't the centerpiece of our preparations today, given all the delectable foods we enjoy between Thanksgiving and Christmas! Still, we can certainly make room for prayer, reflection and preparation.

Advent focuses on the (4) weeks leading up to Christmas, traditionally marked by the Sundays of each week. This year, Advent begins November 29 and continues through December 24.

What if we made room in our busy schedules to experience Advent together?

Carol and I would like to invite you to join an Advent reading and discussion group. This will be an opportunity to read, gather, talk, listen, and celebrate the journeys on which God has traveled with us—and we with God. As with our other reading groups, the goal isn't to reach the same conclusions or agree on everything. Rather, it's to learn from one another and make room for new insights along the way.

After conversations with Pastor David, we are planning weekly Zoom gatherings, with two different meeting times available to make participation easier. One gathering will be on Saturday morning, and the other will be on a weekday. We are working out the details now and expect to announce the times in early November.

Our Book: An Unlikely Advent

Our guide for this journey will be An Unlikely Advent by the Rev. Rachel Billups. It's an approachable book that looks at some of the people in the Nativity story who may not always receive the attention they deserve.

The publisher describes the study this way:

"This four-week Advent study focuses on the experiences of four sets of often overlooked characters in the Nativity story. During this Advent season, Rachel Billups guides readers through the themes of hope, love, joy, and peace by sharing the stories of Elizabeth and Zechariah, Herod, the Magi, and the shepherds. Each set of unexpected characters has something to teach about living faithfully on the journey to Christmas."

What might these familiar characters have to teach us about our own lives and faith? The author offers some intriguing possibilities.

Week One: HOPE — "What If I Missed It?"

Elizabeth and Zechariah believed they were past their prime. Their dreams seemed to have passed them by. Yet God entered their story and transformed their perspective.

Have you ever wondered whether your best days are behind you? Have you felt too old, no longer useful or convinced that an opportunity has passed you by? Have you felt your dreams are now broken? Their story can help us discover a hope we didn't even know we needed.

Week Two: LOVE — "Playing the Villain"

Herod's story gives us an opportunity to consider the villains in our world—and those we sometimes carry within ourselves. Negative thoughts, fears and perceived limitations can keep us from growing into something new.

What if we dared to challenge those inner limitations and allow God's love to change the way we see ourselves and others?

Week Three: JOY — "A Curious People"

The Magi remind us that God doesn't always work within the boundaries we expect. Sometimes the people who help us see God in a new way come from outside our familiar circles.

What might happen if we became more curious about the ways God works in the lives of others? What if we widened the edges of our tables and made room for people whose experiences and faith traditions differ from our own?

Week Four: PEACE — "When God Shows Up"

The shepherds were ordinary people going about their ordinary work when God interrupted their night and invited them into an extraordinary story.

Have you ever experienced an unexpected encounter that changed the direction of your life? What if God shows up in the middle of our ordinary routines this Advent, inviting us to discover a peace we might otherwise overlook?

These are not simply stories about people who lived long ago. They offer opportunities to reflect on our own dreams, limitations, relationships, expectations, and encounters with God. And what better time to explore these questions than as we prepare for Christmas?

Would You Like to Join Us?

The book is available in print and e-book formats, although regrettably, not in audio format. We plan to place a group order by mid-November so that participants can receive their books in time for our discussions. By then, we expect to have the meeting schedules established.

If you think you might like to participate, please let us know! We can order additional books later for anyone who decides to join us after the initial order.

And please don't feel you must have all four weeks perfectly arranged in your calendar before expressing interest. This is an invitation to explore, discover, and share—not another obligation to add to an already busy season.

Let's make a little room for Advent. Amid the shopping, cooking, decorating, gatherings, and other preparations, we can give ourselves the gift of time together: time to read, ask questions, listen to one another, and notice how God continues to work in our lives.

To express your interest or ask questions, please contact Stephen Durham directly:

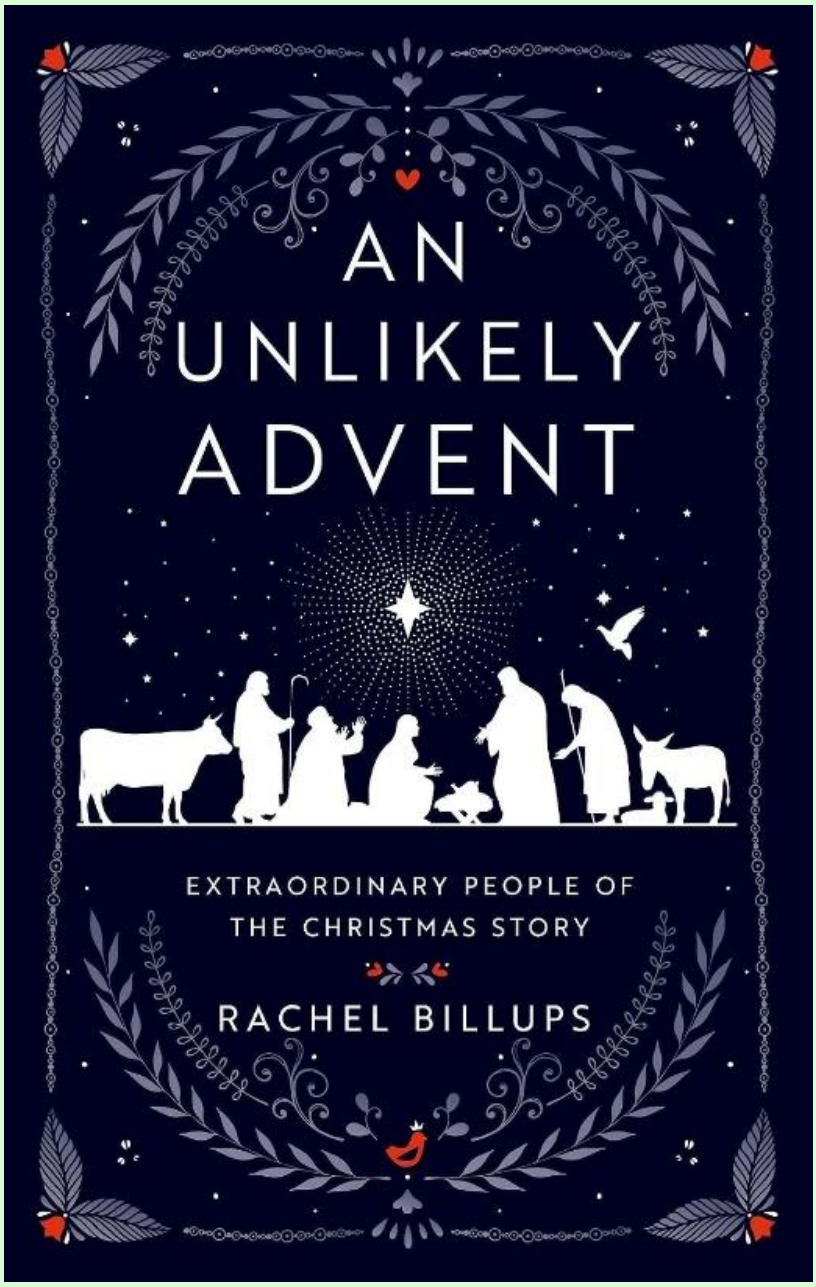

Email: Stephen_m_durham@yahoo.com
Phone: 919-906-3783

Watch for additional information about the meeting times as we move into November.

We hope you'll consider joining us as we journey toward Christmas together!

Grace and peace to you this Advent season.

Stephen
