

OUR FAMILY NEWS

DECEMBER 29 | 2025

THE GOAL

To renew our parishes so they become places where individuals and families encounter Jesus and grow as missionary disciples

THE PLAN

To respond in faith to the challenges we face and to take the necessary steps to better equip our parish communities for mission.

OUR RESOLVE

To advance with unshakable conviction of the truth of the Gospel and a love that compels us to share the good news with those around us

Curia must reflect 'new humanity,' founded on love, solidarity, pope says

Carol Glatz • December 22, 2025

VATICAN CITY (CNS) — The cardinals, bishops, priests, religious and laypeople who work in the Roman Curia are called to be a "sign of a new humanity," founded on mutual love and solidarity, not selfishness and individualism, Pope Leo XIV said.

"We are not mere gardeners tending our own plot, but disciples and witnesses of the Kingdom of God, called in Christ to be leaven of universal fraternity among different peoples, religions and cultures," he told cardinals and top Curia officials Dec. 22 during a traditional pre-Christmas meeting with them.

"This happens if we ourselves live as brothers and sisters and allow the light of communion to shine in the world," the pope said. "Let us remember this also in our curial service: the work of each is important for the whole, and the witness of a Christian life, expressed in communion, is the first and greatest service we can offer."

The traditional Christmas greeting took place in the Vatican's Hall of Blessing, which was decorated with red poinsettias and Christmas trees adorned with sparkling lights and silver and gold ornaments.

While previous popes used the pre-Christmas meeting to review the past year, Pope Leo continued Pope Francis' practice of using it as an opportunity to reflect on what can help or hinder the Curia's mission of sharing the Gospel. Cardinal Giovanni Battista Re, dean of the College of Cardinals, offered a brief summary of the past eight months of Pope Leo's ministry in his opening remarks.

FAMILIES OF PARISHES

Synod 16 called for a complete renewal of structures of our parishes to make them radically mission-oriented. Our goal is to make our parishes places where individuals and families can encounter Jesus anew, grow as disciples, and be equipped to be witnesses to the Risen Christ.

WHAT IS A FAMILY OF PARISHES?

A Family of Parishes is a group of three or more parishes that collaborate in deeper and more intentional ways than parishes have ever done before. Each parish in a Family will retain its own unique identity, similar to how each sibling has his or her own unique roll in the family.

If you have an Catholic event that you would to submit for publication,

FRIDAY, JANUARY 23, 7:00 PM

As we encounter our Lord in the Eucharist, sing praises to Jesus, and worship the Lord of Lords, the presence of the Holy Spirit fills the atmosphere. You will sense the Lord's closeness as you are engulfed in His love and mercy.

This is a night of releasing all your anxieties and worries as you allow the Lord to minister to you. We call upon the Holy Spirit and when we call upon Him, He will come!

TUESDAY, JANUARY 27, 7:00 PM - 8:30 PM

Follow Me invites you to experience the joy of a renewed friendship with Christ. In this study you will learn what it takes to follow Christ and discover the joy of divine friendship. You will see how God, and only God, can satisfy the deepest desires of your heart.

Sponsor a Family

On Saturday, December 20th, over twenty Holy Family volunteers helped load presents in the cars of 58 families who, without the help of this amazing parish, would not have had a Christmas.

Not only did the volunteers greet the families and load the cars with gifts, they offered to pray with each and every family that came by. It was a cold December day, but the cheerful volunteers and the presence of our Lord made it all worth it.

Thank you to all of our families who sponsored, the volunteers who wrapped the gifts and to those who helped on pick-up day, we could not do this program with you!

God Bless,

St. James Food Pantry

The holidays have gone by and we are now beginning our regular monthly food packings as well as assisting those calling in for help with food. In the past few weeks, we have given out 8 emergency food packings.

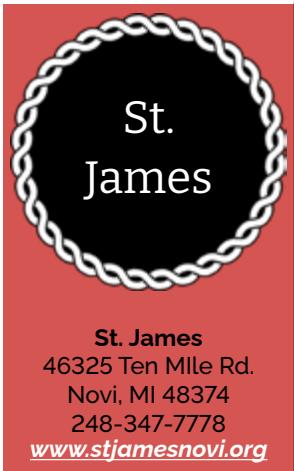

The food list located on page 4 of this bulletin is updated weekly. We will, of course, accept any non-expired items you may wish to donate.

Thank you for whatever help you can give!

Food Pantry Monthly Packers and Deliverers

A 2026 schedule will be arriving in the next week or so. The first packing of the year will be January 19th through January 21st, with delivery on January 24th. Thank you for your continued commitment to this ministry!

PrimeTimers

Are you an adult 50+ looking for fun and to socialize? Please consider joining the PrimeTimers, a group of family of parishes members, singles or couples. Our goal is to meet the spiritual, educational and social needs of our community. Dues are $10.00 per year per person and the meetings are held once a month in the St James Parish Hall. Our members can enjoy the following:

January 12th at 1:00 pm

January Meeting

Join us for a presentation from David Larwa who will tell us some interesting facts about St James the Greater along with the spiritual experience of the journey to Camino Santiago de Compostela, and the walk to St James field of stairs to Spain.

We will also have a white elephant gift extravaganza. Please bring a wrapped unloved Christmas gift to exchange.

January 22nd at 1:00 pm

Waltonwood

We have been invited to go to Waltonwood, 27474 Huron Circle, Novi. It is located across from Nordstrom at 12 Oaks Mall. They will serve appetizers and dessert and have a speaker on the topic 'Ringing in the New Year'. A tour of the facility will be available.

February 9th 12th at 12:00 pm

February Meeting

Please come and enjoy some delicious soup and sandwiches. The cost is $5.00 per person unless you bring a crockpot of homemade soup - then it is free. We will also have a special guest speaker. You may sign up and pay at the January meeting or send your check to: Marge Jonesku, 234 Winslow Circle, Commerce Township, 48390.

March 9th 12th at 12:00 pm

March Meeting

We are having our traditional St Patrick's Day Irish luncheon. There is a $20.00 charge per person. You may sign up and pay at the January meeting or send your check to: Marge Jonesku, 234 Winslow Circle, Commerce Township, 48390.

ICONOGRAPHY RETREAT

February 15-21, 2026

In this retreat, you will learn how to paint an icon of an angel. We will use traditional egg tempera and genuine gold leaf on gessoed wooden panels. At the end of the retreat, you'll be able to take home a beautiful icon painted by yourself, the fruit of many hours of hard work and prayer.

You do not need to have any professional art training or prior experience in icon painting. The only expectation is your willingness to learn something new and to immerse in an ancient and sacred tradition of iconography, to enter into a deeper relationship with God.

$920 for single bedroom

$620 for commuters

(meals and all supplies included)

Registration and more info:

Brother Thomas Skowron is a Capuchin Franciscan friar. He began painting icons in 2017. Br. Thomas studied at Eikonon School in Uzhgorod, Ukraine, an iconography school of the Greek Catholic Eparchy of Mukachevo and the Capuchin Custody of Ukraine and Russia, as well as with Fr. Anthony Gunin and George Kordis.

He focuses on classical Byzantine and Neo-Byzantine iconography and traditional technique of egg tempera, but he's also interested in contemporary trends, in particular in the art of Jerzy Nowosielski and new iconography of Lviv, Ukraine.

His prophetic voice, pastoral style and rich magisterium have marked the church's journey in recent years, encouraging us above all to place God's mercy at the center, to give renewed impetus to evangelization, and to be a joyful church, welcoming to all and attentive to the poorest," the U.S.-born pope said.

Pope Leo then focused his talk on two fundamental themes of Pope Francis' 2013 apostolic exhortation "Evangelii Gaudium" ("The Joy of the Gospel"): mission and communion.

He told the Curia officials that the church's very nature is to be "outward-looking, turned toward the world, missionary," in order to bring the good news of God's love to all people.

"The church exists to invite and gather all people to the festive banquet that the Lord prepares for us," he said, so "every person can discover their identity as a beloved child, a brother or sister to their neighbor, and a new creation in Christ."

"Transformed by this discovery, they become witnesses to truth, justice and peace," he said.

For that reason, he said, "we need an ever more missionary Roman Curia, in which institutions, offices and tasks are conceived in light of today's major ecclesial, pastoral and social challenges, and not merely to ensure ordinary administration," to better serve local churches and their pastors.

When it comes to communion, he said, Christmas is an important reminder that "Jesus came to reveal the true face of God as Father, so that we might all become his children and therefore brothers and sisters to one another."

God's love, revealed by Jesus, enables all members of the Catholic Church "to be a sign of a new humanity no longer founded on selfishness and individualism, but on mutual love and solidarity," Pope Leo said.

The task of fostering greater communion both within the church and in the world "is urgent," he said.

Communion in the church is always a challenge, he said, because of "forces of division" that may sometimes be at play. "We can fall into the temptation of swinging between two opposite extremes: uniformity that fails to value differences, or the exacerbation of differences and viewpoints instead of seeking communion."

"Thus, in interpersonal relationships, in internal office dynamics, or in addressing questions of faith, liturgy, morality and more besides, there is a risk of falling into rigidity or ideology, with their consequent conflicts," Pope Leo said.

Members of the church are called to "conversion," and to remember, "though many and diverse," they are members of the one body of Christ as "brothers and sisters in him," he said.

"This communion is built not so much through words and documents as through concrete gestures and attitudes that ought to appear in our daily lives, including in our work," he said.

Pope Leo warned against "bitterness" that may build up in those who, after many years of service in the Curia, "observe with disappointment that certain dynamics -- linked to the exercise of power, the desire to prevail, or the pursuit of personal interests -- are slow to change."

He encouraged officials to seek "genuine fraternal friendship" and to pray for personal conversion and the "grace to find trustworthy friends, where masks fall away, no one is used or sidelined, genuine support is offered, and each person's worth and competence are respected, preventing resentment and dissatisfaction."

When members of the Curia and the wider church live this way, he said, it also becomes a sign to "a world wounded by discord, violence and conflict, where we also witness a growth in aggression and anger, often exploited by both the digital sphere and politics."

"The Lord's birth brings the gift of peace and invites us to become its prophetic sign in a human and cultural context that is too fragmented," he said.

After meeting with the Curia leaders, the pope went to the Vatican audience hall where he greeted hundreds of employees of the Vatican and the Diocese of Rome and their families. He spent almost 30 minutes walking along the barriers, greeting and speaking with those in attendance, and blessing babies and children.

In his speech, he encouraged employees and their families to learn from Jesus "the style of simplicity and humility, and let us all work together to ensure that this is increasingly the style of the church in all its expressions."

"Sometimes we are so caught up in our activities that we do not think about the Lord or the church," he said. "But the very fact of working with dedication, trying to do our best, and also -- for you lay people -- with love for your family, for your children, gives glory to the Lord."
