Bio

As a contemporary artist working in Ocean City, New Jersey, my work reflects a lifelong passion for storytelling, shaped by over two decades of commissioned murals, theater sets, decorative paintings, and liturgical art. With a background in Fashion Design from Drexel University, I have spent much of my creative career crafting visual narratives for clients. My current body of work marks a more personal evolution—one centered on telling my own stories through fine art.

Inspired by nature, I explore the spiritual connections that bind us to the world around us. For me, nature is evidence of the Divine as the ultimate artist, and my paintings reflect this reverence through symbolism, layered textures, and emotionally charged imagery. My figurative work delves into concepts of the Divine Feminine, exploring themes of wisdom, transformation, intuition, and sacred connection.
