BIO

Merry May, of Tuckahoe, NJ has been making quilts for more than 50 years. During this time she has established a reputation for excellence, both in quilt-making as well as in teaching others how to sew and quilt. She is known worldwide for writing “mystery quilt” patterns. These are quilt patterns where the participant does not know what the final outcome will look like because the instructions are doled out in steps without revealing what the quilt actually looks like. Her work is in museums and collections worldwide, as well as in numerous publications.
