NEWSLETTER | NOVEMBER 2026

A MESSAGE FROM YOUR EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

November has a way of reminding us what matters: a shared meal, a familiar story, someone taking the time to ask how we're doing. As Thanksgiving approaches, I'm grateful for the residents, families, and team members who get to know one another and look out for one another here.

This month, during National Alzheimer's Disease Awareness Month, we're thinking especially of those living with Alzheimer's or another form of dementia, and the families who love them. We call our memory care neighborhood The Harbor because it offers residents a safe, caring place to navigate the challenges that sometimes accompany dementia. Familiar routines, purposeful activities, and time spent with people who know them give residents opportunities to connect and enjoy their days. Our team brings patience and dedication to this work, along with annual certification in Alzheimer's and dementia care.

We also know that families need support of their own. That's why we offer complimentary Alzheimer's Support Services with Dr. Ron Harvard, in addition to the care we provide in our community. Dr. Harvard is a pastor, counselor, and professor with decades of experience. He also cared for his late wife, Linda, through her journey with Alzheimer's disease. He understands the questions and emotions families face, both through his work and through his own life. If it would help to talk with someone who understands, you can schedule a complimentary phone or video appointment with Dr. Harvard through our website.

That same commitment to helping families find their way through difficult questions extends to another group we're honoring this month: veterans and their families. On Veterans Day, we thank those who have served and the people who have stood beside them. For veterans, spouses, and surviving spouses exploring VA Pension with Aid and Attendance, we can also help make the application process easier to navigate. Through our partnership with Elder Resource Benefits Consulting (ERBC), families can get knowledgeable guidance at each step and avoid common delays. The initial eligibility call is always free, and we cover the cost of ERBC's service for those moving into or living in our community. If you'd like to learn more for yourself or someone you love, please reach out. We'd be glad to get you connected.

Whether we're helping a resident find comfort in a familiar routine, honoring a veteran's service, or answering a family's questions, our goal is the same: to be useful to residents and families in the ways that matter to them.

Thanksgiving gives us another chance to spend time together. If you're visiting a loved one this month, we hope you'll share a meal, join us for an activity, or simply sit and catch up. Thank you for trusting us to be part of your lives. We're grateful you're here, and we'd love to see you whenever you can stop by.

With gratitude,

Gina Pope

A Season of Thanksgiving

November invites us to slow down and give thanks for the blessings God places in our lives. Psalm 107:1 reminds us, "Give thanks to the Lord, for he is good; his love endures forever."

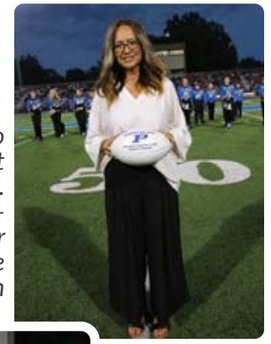

As the air grows cooler and the leaves fall, we can find reminders of His goodness in simple moments—a kind word, a familiar smile, or time spent with someone we love.

FRIDAY NIGHT LIGHTS WITH THE PIEDMONT BULLDOGS

Legacy Village was proud to sponsor a recent Piedmont High School football game. Our Business Office Manager, Stephanie, represented our community on the field, where she accepted the game ball on behalf of Legacy Village.

We're always grateful for opportunities to support our local students, athletes, and neighbors.

MEET Billy Oliver
FIELDS, FRIENDSHIPS & A GUITAR PLAYED BY EAR

Long before Billy Oliver played guitar for audiences across the region, opened for Barbara Mandrell or built a respected career at the Anniston Army Depot, he was a farm boy in Fairview, Alabama, plowing fields behind a team of mules.

Born on April 28, 1935, in Cullman County, Billy grew up as one of six children. With three brothers and two sisters, he describes himself as the middle child. His family raised cotton, corn, potatoes and many other crops along with goats, cows, chickens and other farm animals. There was always work to be done, and Billy learned early how to do his share.

One of his childhood responsibilities was plowing the fields with mules. His work helped produce enough crops for the family to use and allowed his father to take the excess to markets in Birmingham to sell. Bily also remembers a time when the family home did not have electricity and his mother would send him to collect water from the spring at the bottom of the hill.

Hard work was part of daily life, but so was a little mischief. Looking back, Billy says he is not sure his parents ever knew everything he was up to. One adventure involved his horse, Charlie. While Billy was riding him, Charlie suddenly reared up and sent Billy tumbling backward into a pile of hay. Fortunately, the hay broke his fall and he walked away unhurt, with a story he would still be telling many years later.

In 1951, at age 16, Billy left Fairview and moved to Anniston. He first worked on a farm, baling hay with a pitchfork, before finding a job at D.W. Meadows Grocery. He stayed at the grocery store through the rest of his teenage years and worked there until he turned 18.

Then Billy headed north to Gary, Indiana. His brother was already living there, which made the move feel more familiar and comfortable. Billy found work with Safeway Cab Company, where he drove a cab through the city. When job opportunities began to slow, he returned to Alabama and started what would become one of the defining chapters of his life.

Billy joined the Anniston Army Depot as a civilian employee and worked his way up over the years to become an inspector in the artillery division. His work also took him to the test track at Pelham Range, where he worked with tanks. It was an important job and one Billy took pride in doing well.

What he remembers most warmly, though, are the people. His years at the Depot brought lasting friendships, plenty of practical jokes and the kind of friendly pranks that helped coworkers become close. The work mattered, but so did the laughter shared along the way.

Family has remained one of the most important parts of Billy's life. He is the proud father of four children: his sons, Mark and Brent, and his daughters, Cheryl and Abby. He speaks warmly about the time they have shared and the memories they have made together.

Many of those memories were formed while traveling. Billy and his family visited Alaska, Hawaii, Las Vegas and numerous destinations throughout the western United States. From the Alabama farm where his story began, he went on to see parts of the country that must once have felt very far away.

Just as family has remained constant in Billy's life, so has music. His love for the guitar began when he was young and listened to two of his uncles play music at church. Inspired by them, Billy began teaching himself to play. He never relied on sheet music. Instead, he listened carefully, practiced and learned entirely by ear.

There was a period when work and family responsibilities left little time for playing. Then a friend named Charlie, who played the fiddle, encouraged Billy to pick up his guitar again. Charlie invited him to join a local group called the K&B Music Makers, giving Billy the chance to return to something he had loved since childhood.

The K&B Music Makers included several talented musicians and welcomed anyone interested in joining their jam sessions. The group played at VFW halls, officers' clubs, nursing homes and community events. For Billy, those years brought the pleasure of performing with friends, traveling to different venues and entertaining audiences throughout the region.

One performance became an especially memorable part of his story. Billy and the group opened for Barbara Mandrell at the Oxford Civic Center. He was also given the opportunity to audition to play for the band Alabama, an impressive achievement for someone who had developed his talent by listening, practicing and trusting his ear.

Billy's music and his career at the Anniston Army Depot may seem like two very different parts of his life, but both were built on the same qualities. He was willing to work, learn through experience and make the most of each opportunity that came his way. At the Depot, that approach carried him from a civilian position to the role of artillery inspector. In music, it took him from listening to his uncles at church to performing on stages across the region.

Through it all, Billy has kept his sense of humor. When asked about the advice he received over the years, he jokes, "I never listened to any advice I was given, but I probably should have!"

That line says something about Billy. He has made his own way, collecting stories, friendships and a few good laughs as he went. His life has included farm fields and tank tracks, cab rides and family trips, workplace pranks and live performances. It has taken him from a spring at the bottom of an Alabama hill to Alaska, Hawaii and stages he may never have imagined as a boy.

Billy's story is one of hard work, perseverance, family and meaningful connection. It is also proof that a life does not have to follow a single path to have its own rhythm. Sometimes it is learned by ear, played alongside good friends and enjoyed one memorable chapter at a time. ŭ

A GREAT DAY FOR A GOOD CAUSE ON THE GREEN!

Legacy Village of Jacksonville joined community partners in supporting the 30th Annual RMC Foundation Golf Classic.

We were honored to sponsor this year's tournament and help advance the RMC Foundation's efforts to strengthen local healthcare. It was a wonderful day of golf, fellowship and support for the patients and families served by Northeast Alabama Regional Medical Center.

What is a special Thanksgiving tradition your family enjoyed?

I enjoyed all my family coming over and sharing a meal that I cooked. The best feeling in the world is being surrounded by your family during the holidays.
