4th Annual Passport to the Past
by Linda Poynter

Closely following our participation in the Great Outdoor Weekend on September 26, we joined three local historical sites in Harrison and Crosby Townships during the Passport to the Past on October 2. Those sites joining us were The Harrison Village Historical Society Museum, the Looker House (the 1804 home of Ohio’s 5th governor, Othneil Looker), and the former Fernald Feed Materials Production Center (Fernald Preserve).

During both events, aside from Meeting House and dwelling tours, our visitors were able to view the farming implement display and the butchering display, which we were recently gifted from the Tippecanoe Historical Society from Tipp City, Ohio.

We had approximately 55 people attend these two events. A member of the Hodapp family who lived on the second floor of the Meeting House visited for the first time since moving out in 1974. We were also pleased to have several children and grandchildren accompanying their parents and grandparents. Many of the children were actively engaged in the tour, asking questions and taking photos.

Blessing to two who helped...

Friends of White Water Shaker Village were saddened to hear of the recent passing of two of our long-time members, Clara Staunton and Hedda Windisch von Goeben.

Clara practiced medicine for more than thirty years while raising three daughters as a single mother. An artist at heart, she had a wide variety of interests and talents – quilting, needlework, caning chairs, painting, theater and music among them. When Clara discovered the Shakers, she felt immediately at home. Everything about the Shaker beliefs and practices lined up with her own ideals: equality between the sexes; simple, beautiful, high-quality workmanship; the honoring of tradition; stewardship; hard work; community. Throughout the second half of her life, engagement with the Shakers through activities, seminars and classes, visits to many Shaker sites, and above all, getting to know others who shared her interest, was a major and happy focus of her life.

Hedda was an equestrienne, horse breeder, trainer, artist and world traveler. For most of her life, she lived in Connecticut, operating her family’s Church Hill Farm and devoting her time to associations and programs devoted to horses. Fifteen years ago, Hedda moved to Granville, Ohio to be closer to her extended family. She could trace her roots back to the founders of the Windisch-Mulhauser Brewing Company, once the second largest brewery in Cincinnati. Hedda was a philanthropist who blessed educational communities, the arts, museums, churches in need of restoration and individuals in need.
