A message from new Board President, Erin Radcliff

My first “adult” volunteer gig was with the Ronald McDonald House near Children’s Memorial Hospital in Chicago. I had recently retired from a high-travel job and realized I knew the name of my dry cleaner, but didn’t know my neighbors. Now with previously unheard-of free time, I walked into RMH to see if they needed help, and found community (and eventually, my son’s godmother). I cleaned guest rooms, registered worried parents, got to know their families, and I watched them leave.

I was transfixed and transformed.

After my husband Tim and I had our second child and were looking to move out of Chicago, we visited many suburbs—but it was in Elmhurst that we felt it most. Community. It was everywhere. Neighborhood events, vibrant school communities, a busy network of non-profits, and an engaged city government. Community was valued. It was pursued with intention. And, as I happily discovered, community was the daily bread of the Elmhurst Walk-In Assistance Network.

How I learned about EWAN was more circuitous than it should have been—it involved dead plants and word of mouth (ask me later!). But what I discovered was the community I craved—donors, clients, local businesses, partners, and volunteers, woven together as neighbors and united with hearts for service.

It is my honor to participate in this remarkable organization and help ensure that knowledge of EWAN’s message penetrates every corner of our town—and I thank you for being an essential contributor to the success of our mission. Share the love ... invite a friend to come alongside us with their time, talent, or treasure, as we launch into our next 25 years of tending that which keeps us strong—community.

EWAN is most grateful to the service the outgoing president, Jennifer Morrissey, gave to the board these past five years. She was an effective leader—committed, dedicated to the mission, thoughtful, and she led with care and integrity. She has passed the gavel to the newly-elected president, Erin Radcliff, who will continue the tradition of strong board leadership. Jennifer will stay on the board one more year in the role of past president.

The EWAN Mission: The caring people of Elmhurst unite to provide compassionate assistance to people in need in our community.

2022 Board of Directors focused on new structure to propel EWAN’s future efforts

A non-profit board is charged with seeing that the organization’s mission is carried out effectively and responsibly and that the resources afforded to it are used to their maximum effect. A board requires not only strong and active members, but a structure that allows it to carry out its vision.

As EWAN’s Strategic Plan Committee met this year, it determined that some improvements in the board structure would enhance its ability to carry out its goals.

First, as the Strategic Plan Committee considered new client programs EWAN might want to put in place, it became clear that better infrastructure was needed to research and implement any additions to its services.

To that end, a new Executive Board position was created: a Director of Client Programs & Benefits. This individual will lead a committee charged with evaluating the effectiveness of current programs, and putting in place any new programs or services EWAN identifies.

The former director positions of Site Management and Volunteer and Training will now work under the umbrella of the new Director of Client Programs and Benefits.

Secondly, while great strides have been made in EWAN name recognition in the community, the board knows there’s more work to be done. Knowledge of EWAN is critical to community members recognizing it as a place to turn in times of trouble. Financial support also relies on people’s awareness of EWAN’s work.

To this end, a new Director of Marketing, Branding, and PR has been added to Executive Board positions. This person is charged with putting forth initiatives that will raise EWAN’s profile in Elmhurst.

With these new director positions in place, there’s a clearer and more effective path to implementing ideas.

The board is grateful to those members taking their leave this year due either to term limits or personal commitments. In addition to Nancy Brook, we say a heartfelt thank you and goodbye to Kari Conkle, Katy Costello, Jeanne Kett, and Rev. Traci Smith. Each of these women made valuable contributions to EWAN, and we look forward to their continued involvement with EWAN in new ways.

Nancy Brook was recognized at the December meeting for her long-time service to the board. After 17 years, 8 as secretary, she decided it was time! EWAN is very grateful to her for sharing her time and talent with EWAN for so many years.
The Walk-In’s newest board members are off to a flying start

Katy Ahern will jump right to work on the board chairing the new Marketing, Branding, & PR Committee. Katy brings with her a wealth of experience having worked for 25 years at Accenture in Marketing and Communications, currently as Tech Evolution marketing lead. Katy grew up in Elmhurst and has strong ties to the community. She has served as president on both the Parish Council and School Board at Immaculate Conception. Fun fact: for several years Katy’s four sons raised money for EWAN through an NCAA football pool.

Suji Labine came to EWAN as a site volunteer in 2021. The interest and initiative she showed in organizing the site made her a good candidate for Coordinator of Site Management. She’s already whipping the office into shape! It’s Suji’s job to keep the site organized, well supplied, and its referral sources up to date. Prior to focusing on raising her three children with husband Lee in Elmhurst, Suji had a career in finance and management. Both experiences will give her strong skills for her position.

On the very day Nat Rosasco had been ruminating on his desire to give back more to the community, he got a call from EWAN board member Mike Hauert asking Nat if he’d be interested in joining the board. You can’t say no to fate! As founder of Olive Street Design, a digital marketing firm with 1,365 clients around the world, Nat brings an extensive knowledge of marketing to EWAN. He is already diving in to update its website. Nat and his wife Patricia raised their four children here in Elmhurst.

Matt Parker Wrzeszcz (rhymes with fresh!) is the new Ecumenical Representative on the board. He holds an MDiv and an MA in Youth Ministry from Princeton Theological Seminary. Matt has been Associate Pastor at Yorkfield Presbyterian Church for ten years. His work with the Mission Commission has led to a vibrant partnership between YPC and EWAN. Among his many duties, Matt works with the Elmhurst Yorkfield Food Pantry as EYP’s church liaison.

Behind the numbers:

While 2022 doesn’t show the large surplus EWAN has enjoyed the past several years, it still ended the year firmly in the black. A number of factors contributed to this financial picture. First, services increased 12% over the previous year. Inflation coupled with the decrease in state and federal pandemic assistance, and skyrocketing rents brought clients in in greater numbers with higher dollar requests. A decrease in general contributions also suggests donors too are feeling the inflation pinch. Further, with the immediacy of the pandemic waning it’s possible some donors didn’t feel the urgency to give or to give as much. Also striking is the $19,000 loss in the “other” category. This is a product of the falling stock market last year. These investments are for the long term, and the loss is balanced out by several years of gains. We are hoping for a 2023 rebound there. Overall, our financial picture remains very healthy.

Neighbors in need: why we do what we do

A single mom living with her infant child in a local apartment complex needed rental help. The volunteer who helped her recalls, “She was literally shaking when she came in with her baby and asking for help. I will never forget the look of relief that came over her when we said we could pay that month.”

An Elmhurst school social worker referred a homeless mother and her two children. The son had a medical condition which further complicated their situation. EWAN put the family up in a hotel for a number of days until we were able to finally secure a room with PADS.

An immigrant father lived here alone with his middle-school daughter, the mother having returned to their home country. The daughter became gravely ill with leukemia, and the father took off time from work to stay by her side in the hospital. EWAN helped the family with rent and also provided gift certificates to the father, so he could get some food while sitting vigil with his daughter. Sadly she did not make it, but we were happy to be able to provide a little relief amidst the stress and heartbreak.

A mother of two students in the district contracted cancer. Her husband had to take time off work from his hourly wage job to get her to her chemotherapy and other doctors’ appointments, putting them far behind on rent and other expenses. We made use of the Hope Fund to help the family with their rent as well other expenses, including glasses for their son.

The Student With Activities Needs fund (SWAN) was put to good use this year as student life got back to normal. Among students we helped were several students with disabilities in school at the Transition Center who requested funds for summer courses in community and independent living activities. Three students at York wanted to take guitar lessons, but couldn’t afford the $140 fee. The SWAN fund enabled them to participate in the guitar class.

Often it’s the people doing everything “right” that need EWAN’s help. People working full-time jobs usually don’t qualify for any government assistance but often are still only squeaking by, and a life event can leave them in a fix. In one client’s case, a divorce put her on the edge. Bills piled up for herself and her school-age children. After-school childcare was just one new expense she faced. EWAN’s help demonstrated in real time the positive impact EWAN can have in its clients’ lives.

It takes a village: many in the community collect and give to EWAN

Members of Luke’s Faith Evangelical Methodist Church delivered care bags members had assembled for clients. Jefferson Elementary Girl Scout Troop 56464 made blankets and added sweet notes for clients; the Elmhurst Public Library collected toiletries and other items throughout the fall, and had a MLK Day of Service event where moms, dads, and kids assembled five LARGE boxes of care bags for distribution. Clients always enjoy receiving these thoughtful items.
