

QUIET FORCE

Her leadership is subtle but seismic. Without the need for titles or recognition, she influences decisions, shapes team dynamics, and earns deep trust simply by showing up with unwavering integrity.

What sort of activities it may involve?

Key Qualities

- Steady
 - Reliable
 - Discreet
 - Ethical
 - Influential
- Mentoring quietly
 - Leading from within
 - Advising in decision-making
 - Creating strong team culture

SITI NORMA YAAKOB (MALAYSIA)

Quiet Force

Siti Norma Yaakob, Malaysia's first female High Court judge and later the first woman appointed to the Federal Court, exemplifies quiet yet transformative leadership. She didn't lead protests or dominate headlines, but her presence in the judiciary opened doors for countless women in law across Southeast Asia. Known for her humility, dignity, and unwavering commitment to justice, Siti Norma worked steadily, often behind the scenes, to shape a more inclusive legal system. Her career reflects the essence of the Quiet Force — influencing from within, grounded in integrity, and shifting systems through presence rather than spectacle.