

WEALTH WEAVER

She understands that true wealth is multidimensional - financial, relational, spiritual, and communal. Through stewardship and strategy, she builds networks of mutual support and sustainable prosperity.

What sort of activities it may involve?

Key Qualities

- Resourceful
 - Abundant thinker
 - Collaborative
 - Visionary
 - Grounded
- Creating community investment models
 - Teaching financial literacy
 - Connecting entrepreneurs
 - Managing family or communal wealth

FOLORUNSHO ALAKIJA (NIGERIA)

Wealth Weaver

From fashion entrepreneur to oil magnate, Folorunsho Alakija's rise to becoming one of Africa's richest women is a story of bold vision and deep faith. Refusing to accept limits on what a woman could own or achieve, she built an empire that funds philanthropic projects and inspires African women to see wealth as both a tool and an inheritance. She weaves wealth not just for herself, but for generations of women coming behind her.