Construction Cones in Bloom

Who says concrete cutting can't be beautiful?

Know What's Below – Call 811 Before You Dig!

With rows of traffic cones, bright barricades, and hard-working crews on site, there's always something to keep drivers alert on their commute. From tollways and bridges to busy downtown streets and local roads, Cobra cuts them all.

Did you know we're required to call 811 before starting any project in the public way? In Illinois, Wisconsin, and Indiana, concrete sawing is classified as excavation because it disturbs the road's sub-base.

To keep your project on track, please allow 48–72 hours for notice and be sure to include us on your permits when working in Chicago. This small step helps everything run smoothly—giving you a stress-free day and maybe even a moment to stop and smell those traffic cones.

Corey's Chronicles

Corey's arrival has been long awaited! We welcomed him into the office last month. He is an Okeetee corn snake (who aspires to be a cobra), with beautiful red, orange, and black scales. Most of our employees absolutely love him... others not so much.

Let The Good Times Roll

CAGC Networking Event

Team Cobra swapped saws for strikes at the bowling tournament hosted by Chicagoland Associated General Contractors. We cut through the lanes like pros. Thank you to everyone who came out!

IEA Banquet

Cobra Concrete Cutting sponsored the 2025 Interscholastic Equestrian Association awards banquet. Dan and Madi dressed to impress for the Rio Carnival theme and unexpectedly showed up matching! It was a fun night celebrating the riders' success this season.
