

Massimiliano Spataro

Forensic Criminologist | Technical Consultant | Analysis of Complex Events

Professional Profile Massimiliano Spataro operates in the field of forensic criminology and technical consulting, working as a Technical Consultant for the defense in criminal proceedings. His work focuses on analyzing available documentation, reconstructing the chronological order of events, and verifying the compatibility between objective data and declarative contents, while respecting the technical limits of the material examined. He provides support to law firms and judicial contexts, offering technical contributions aimed at the structured understanding of events.

Operational Approach The intervention distinguishes between documentable facts, declarative contents, and the objective limits of the analysis. Each evaluation is developed through a verifiable process, maintaining a separation between technical analysis and any decision-making evaluations.

Method The activity is based on the P.G.E.[®] Method, a structured model for analyzing complex events, which ensures traceability, verifiability, and consistency of the technical process. Results are expressed in terms of compatibility, incompatibility, or non-verifiability.

Areas of Intervention

- Technical consulting in criminal proceedings
- Criminological and documentary analysis
- Reconstruction of complex events
- Verification of coherence between statements and objective data
- Technical support to law firms

Positioning Activity conducted on assignment, with an independent, methodologically structured approach oriented towards clarity and verifiability of data.
