OUR PERFORMER

Sandy Welfare, is an avid handbell ringer, starting as a teenager playing 5 octaves of White Chapel bells with a group made up largely of marching band geeks. She has played in church and community groups up and down the East Coast, most recently the James River Ringers in Richmond, Virginia, for whom she serves as partial conductor this season. She directs a quintet and 3-octave choir at a retirement community, and plays solos from the table and on bell tree. By day she is an occupational therapist at a level one trauma hospital, helping people adapt to life changes after strokes, transplants, cardiac events, trauma, burns, and orthopedic injuries. In her free time, she also enjoys playing trumpet and dulcimer, quilting, and visiting hospitals with her trained therapy dog. She lives in Richmond.
