SAINT JOSEPH CATHOLIC CHURCH & SCHOOL

VANDERBURGH COUNTY EVANSVILLE, INDIANA ESTABLISHED IN 1841

OCTOBER 12, 2025 THE TWENTY-EIGHTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

Dear friends,

I can't let this week go by without a big thanks to all the folks who were involved with our PTO and Men's Club Booth. It takes a great deal of work just to keep the booths running each day, but there is a lot more work happening afterhours cleaning and restocking the booths and doing the other long list of things that have to be done to have a successful week at the Fall Festival. So, thanks to all of you. As I write this letter, we're having another beautiful fall day and the weather report looks promising for the rest of the week.

My thanks as well to the 187 families who have made their pledge to our Catholic Ministries Appeal. They have pledged $85,110 which is 65% of our CMA goal. I'm sure the remaining 70% of our parish families will want to do their part as well. With their help I know we will meet and even exceed our CMA goal.

These are just a few of the examples of people working together for the common good in our parish. There is hardly a day that goes by that is not filled with examples of this kind of effort being made by so many people in our parish—hosting dinners for families after the funeral of their loved one, reaching out to a neighbor in need, helping to mow the grass, volunteering for countless projects in school, helping with all manner of maintenance needs, and the list goes on and on. My prayer is that the example of so many will inspire all of us to offer the gifts we have for the good of others in our parish and beyond. Leaning into the journey of life

MAKE YOUR PLEDGE TODAY AND SUPPORT OUR COMMON EFFORT!

We forget that we are all tangled together in this nest of life, that the air we breathe is shared, as is our water and soil, and that everything is bound together in a seamless web of life.

When we forget, we are able to do untold damage to our watersheds, to one another, and to the entire earth.

There is a sorrow beyond all grief which leads to joy and a fragility out of whose depths emerges strength.

There is a hollow space too vast for words through which we pass with each loss, out of whose darkness we are sanctified into being.

There is a cry deeper than all sound whose serrated edges cut the heart as we break open to the place inside which is unbreakable and whole, while learning to sing.

JUBILEE OF MIGRANTS AND MISSIONS

Exerts from the sermon of Pope Leo at the Jubilee Mass

Today we celebrate the Jubilee of the Missions and of Migrants. This is a wonderful opportunity to rekindle in ourselves the awareness of our missionary vocation, which arises from the desire to bring the joy and consolation of the Gospel to everyone, especially those who are experiencing difficult and painful situations. In particular, I think of our migrant brothers and sisters, who have had to depart their homelands, often leaving their loved ones behind, enduring nights of fear and loneliness, experiencing discrimination and violence firsthand.

The Spirit sends us to continue the work of Christ in the world's peripheries, marked at times by war, injustice and suffering. Faced with these menacing situations, the cry that so often in history has been raised up to God has re-emerged: Lord, why do you not intervene? Why do you seem absent? This cry of sorrow is a form of prayer that pervades all of Scripture and, this morning, we heard it from the prophet Habakkuk: "O Lord, how long shall I cry for help, and you will not hear? ... Why do you make me see wrongs and look upon trouble?" (Hab 1:2-3).

If the prophet denounces the inescapable force of evil that seems to prevail, the Lord, for his part, announces to him that all of this will end, will cease, because salvation will come and it will not delay: "Look at the proud! Their spirit is not right in them, but the righteous live by their faith" (Hab 2:4).

Trusting in this, we are called to renew in ourselves the fire of our missionary vocation. Today a new missionary age opens up in the history of the Church. Today the frontiers of the missions are no longer geographical, because poverty, suffering and the desire for a greater hope have made their way to us. The story of so many of our migrant brothers and sisters bears witness to this: the tragedy of their flight from violence, the suffering which accompanies it, the fear of not succeeding, the perilous risk of traveling along the coastline, their cry of sorrow and desperation. Brothers and sisters, those boats which hope to catch sight of a safe port, and those eyes filled with anguish and hope seeking to reach the shore, cannot and must not find the coldness of indifference or the stigma of discrimination!

Mission is not so much about "departing", but instead "remaining" in order to proclaim Christ through hospitality and welcome, compassion and solidarity. We are to remain without fleeing to the comforts of our individualism; to remain so as to look upon those who arrive from lands that are distant and violent; to remain and open our arms and hearts to them, welcoming them as brothers and sisters, and being for them a presence of consolation and hope.

I ask you to promote a renewed missionary cooperation among the Churches. In the communities of ancient Christian tradition, such as those of the West, the presence of many brothers and sisters from the world's South should be welcomed as an opportunity, through an exchange that renews the face of the Church and sustains a Christianity that is more open, more alive and more dynamic. At the same time, all missionaries that depart for other lands are called to live with respect within the culture they encounter, directing to the good all that is found true and worthy, and bringing there the prophetic message of the Gospel.

I would like to recall the beauty and importance of missionary vocations. I refer in particular to the Church in Europe: today there is a need for a new missionary effort by laity, religious and priests who will offer their service in missionary lands. We need new ideas and vocational experiences capable of sustaining this desire, especially in young people.
