Dear friends,

Jesus tells his disciples some pretty amazing things. He's constantly trying to calm their fears and then he tells them, "if you believe in me you will do the works that I do and will do greater ones than these." Now if we could live out of this belief, how much better would our lives be? But with all the things we face each day, we easily become overwhelmed and then conclude that there is very little that we can do. What do we pray at these times? One of my favorite writers is the Lutheran Pastor, Nadia Bolz Weber. Here's a prayer she wrote (in the form of a letter to God) for those times when we feel a little powerless in life.

Dear God,

Not sure if you've noticed, but the world feels pretty unhinged at the moment. Reading the news makes me feel powerless, angry, and terrified. And because I don't want to feel like that all the time, I sort of zone out on TV and Instagram, which makes me feel better...for a minute. Then I just feel worse, because life is rare and precious and we only get so many hours, and I just spent 1.2 of them scrolling videos an algorithm picked out just for me, because apparently I'm both more predictable and more manipulable than I like to think.

So, I won't ask for you to fix the world to suit me because better people than I have tried those prayers and they don't work, so could you maybe just help me be in this world without letting it hollow me out quite so much?

And if you're not going to just fix this stuff(which, again, I assume you're not), then could you help me to see where you ARE knitting together what I've unraveled, where you ARE ushering in reconciliation between people who have disappointed each other again, where you ARE quietly loving us into tomorrow?

And please let me know what I can do down here, even if it's small. (And make it obvious please, because I tend to miss the subtle stuff). Like what kindness I can offer that might not fix the world, but at least help another person survive this day on your Earth? And forgive me for not noticing how often other people are doing the same for me, because I'm too busy freaking out. And if it's not too much to ask, a few more good TV shows soon? Amen.

Leaning into the journey of life,

THE MONTH OF MAY IS TRADITIONALLY THE MONTH OF MARY.

Here are some special ways to celebrate this month. Join us in praying the rosary twenty minutes before each of the weekend masses. We will begin at 4:40 pm on Saturday and 7:40 am and 10:10 am. Let's unite our prayers with Pope Leo as we pray the rosary for peace in our world.

You can also attend a pilgrimage to the Monte Casino Shrine at St. Meinrad which are held each Sunday in May beginning at 1 pm (2 pm CST). The pilgrimages begin with an opening hymn and a short sermon, followed by a rosary procession, litany of the Blessed Virgin and a hymn.

Each Monday we invite people to come to pray before the Blessed Sacrament from 7 am to 6:30 pm. We always looking for new people to take the place of those who can no longer come for an hour of adoration.

THIS WEEK'S MOWING CREW: TEAM 3

ON THE LOVE FOR THE POOR

We are reading from the Apostolic Exhortation Dilexi Te of Pope Leo to all Christians on the Love of the Poor
AN INESCAPABLE CHALLENGE FOR THE CHURCH TODAY

At a particularly critical time in the history of the Church in Rome, when the imperial institutions were collapsing under the pressure of the barbarian invasions, Pope Saint Gregory the Great felt it necessary to remind the faithful: "Every minute we can find a Lazarus if we seek him, and every day, even without seeking, we find one at our door. Now beggars besiege us, imploring alms; later they will be our advocates... Therefore do not waste the opportunity of doing works of mercy; do not store unused the good things you possess."

Gregory courageously denounced contemporary forms of prejudice against the poor, including the belief that they were responsible for their plight: "Whenever you see the poor doing something reprehensible, do not despise or discredit them, for the fire of poverty is perhaps purifying their sinful actions, however slight they be."

Not infrequently, our prosperity can make us blind to the needs of others, and even make us think that our happiness and fulfillment depend on ourselves alone, apart from others. In such cases, the poor can act as silent teachers for us, making us conscious of our presumption and instilling within us a rightful spirit of humility.

While it is true that the rich care for the poor, the opposite is no less true. This is a remarkable fact confirmed by the entire Christian tradition. Lives can actually be turned around by the realization that the poor have much to teach us about the Gospel and its demands. By their silent witness, they make us confront the precariousness of our existence. The elderly, for example, by their physical frailty, remind us of our own fragility, even as we attempt to conceal it behind our apparent prosperity and outward appearance.

The poor, too, remind us how baseless is the attitude of aggressive arrogance with which we frequently confront life's difficulties. They remind us how uncertain and empty our seemingly safe and secure lives may be. Here again, Saint Gregory the Great has much to tell us: "Let no one consider himself secure, saying, 'I do not steal from others, but simply enjoy what is rightfully mine.'" The rich man was not punished because he took what belonged to others, but because, while possessing such great riches, he had become impoverished within. This was indeed the reason for his condemnation to hell: in his prosperity, he preserved no sense of justice; the wealth he had received made him proud and caused him to lose all sense of compassion."

For us Christians, the problem of the poor leads to the very heart of our faith. Saint John Paul II taught that the preferential option for the poor, namely the Church's love for the poor, "is essential for her and a part of her constant tradition, and impels her to give attention to a world in which poverty is threatening to assume massive proportions in spite of technological and economic progress."

For Christians, the poor are not a sociological category, but the very "flesh" of Christ. It is not enough to profess the doctrine of God's Incarnation in general terms. To enter truly into this great mystery, we need to understand clearly that the Lord took on a flesh that hungers and thirsts, and experiences infirmity and imprisonment. "A poor Church for the poor begins by reaching out to the flesh of Christ. If we reach out to the flesh of Christ, we begin to understand something, to understand what this poverty, the Lord's poverty, actually is; and this is far from easy."

By her very nature the Church is in solidarity with the poor, the excluded, the marginalized and all those considered the outcast of society. The poor are at the heart of the Church because our faith in Christ, who became poor, and was always close to the poor and the outcast, is the basis of our concern for the integral development of society's most neglected members. In our hearts, we encounter the need to heed this plea, born of the liberating action of grace within each of us, and so it is not a matter of a mission reserved only to a few.
