VANDERBURGH COUNTY EVANSVILLE, INDIANA ESTABLISHED IN 1841

JUNE 8, 2025 PENTECOST SUNDAY

Dear friends,

This week it's all hands on board as we prepare for our Rummage Sale. We've been having a rummage sale for over twenty years and in that time it has raised over $200,000 for parish. The rummage sale is just the latest in a long list of activities that happen here in our parish. The life of our parish, much like many of our own lives is filled with lots of things on our "to do" list. And dealing with this "to do" list can leave us overwhelmed and exhausted. What to do in the face of this? I read this from the book Between the Dark and the Daylight by Sr. Joan Chittister.

We drive ourselves from one exhaustion to another. We pace our societies by the pace of our computers. We conduct the major relationships of our lives—both professional and personal—according to the speed of our communications. We measure ourselves by the amount of our productivity and every day we become more exhausted, less rested in body, spirit and mind, and so less capable of producing things, let alone of developing relationships, as a result. That's not irony, that's tragedy. And though we know it, we do not know what to do about it.

Maybe what we all need most is time to process what we already know so that we can put it together differently, even more effectively than ever before. Maybe we need to think a bit, out on a porch in a summer breeze, down by the creek when the trout are running, back in the garden when it's time to put the beets and beans in again.

Turn off the television and read a good book. Quit texting and ride your bike. Close the computer and go to a movie. Don't answer any email. Don't try to "get ahead." Don't take any callbacks. And during the family dinner, turn off the phone. And when the television is on, watch it instead of talking through it. Reclaim your life, your thoughts, your personality, your friends, your family.

No, the world will not end. And no, the rest of the staff will not get ahead of you. They'll be too tired to even think about catching up.

It's time to sleep in like you did in the good old days. Have a late breakfast. Read the newspapers all day long. Call some friends in for a game of pinochle. As Ashleigh Brilliant says, "Sometimes the most urgent and vital thing you can possibly do is take a complete rest."

As the proverb teaches, "A good rest is half the work." At least, that is, if you really want to be productive.

Leaning into the journey of life,

Fr. Gene Schroeder

THE LOVE OF THE HEART OF JESUS

We continue reading from Pope Francis' recent letter to the church "On the Love of the Heart of Jesus Christ."

RESONANCES WITHIN THE SOCIETY OF JESUS

We have seen how Saint Claude de La Colombière combined the spiritual experience of Saint Margaret Mary with the aim of the Spiritual Exercises. I believe that the place of the Sacred Heart in the history of the Society of Jesus merits a few brief words.

The spirituality of the Society of Jesus has always proposed an "interior knowledge of the Lord in order to love and follow him more fully". Saint Ignatius invites us in his Spiritual Exercises to place ourselves before the Gospel that tells us that, "Christ's side was pierced by the lance and blood and water flowed forth". When retreatants contemplate the wounded side of the crucified Lord, Ignatius suggests that they enter into the heart of Christ. Thus we have a way to enlarge our own hearts, recommended by one who was a "master of affections", to use the words of Saint Peter Faber in one of his letters to Saint Ignatius.

Father Juan Alfonso de Polanco echoed that same expression in his biography of Saint Ignatius: "He realized that in Father Ignatius he had encountered a master of affections". The colloquies that Saint Ignatius proposed are an essential part of this training of the heart, for in them we sense and savour with the heart a Gospel message and converse about it with the Lord. Saint Ignatius tells us that we can share our concerns with the Lord and seek his counsel. Anyone who follows the Exercises can readily see that they involve a dialogue, heart to heart.

Saint Ignatius brings his contemplations to a crescendo at the foot of the cross and invites the retreatant to ask the crucified Lord with great affection, "as one friend to another, as a servant to his master", what he or she must do for him. The progression of the Exercises culminates in the "Contemplation to Attain Love", which gives rise to thanksgiving and the offering of one's "memory, understanding and will" to the heart which is the fount and origin of every good thing. This interior contemplation is not the fruit of our understanding and effort, but is to be implored as a gift.

This same experience inspired the great succession of Jesuit priests who spoke explicitly of the heart of Jesus: Saint Francis Borgia, Saint Peter Faber, Saint Alphonsus Rodriguez, Father Álvarez de Paz, Father Vincent Carafa, Father Kasper Druzbicki and countless others. In 1883, the Jesuits declared that, "the Society of Jesus accepts and receives with an overflowing spirit of joy and gratitude the most agreeable duty entrusted to it by our Lord Jesus Christ to practise, promote and propagate devotion to his divine heart".

In September 1871, Father Pieter Jan Beckx consecrated the Society to the Sacred Heart of Jesus and, as a sign that it remains an outstanding element in the life of the Society, Father Pedro Arrupe renewed that consecration in 1972, with a conviction that he explained in these words: "I therefore wish to say to the Society something about which I feel I cannot remain silent. From my novitiate on, I have always been convinced that what we call devotion to the Sacred Heart contains a symbolic expression of what is most profound in Ignatian spirituality, and of an extraordinary efficacy - ultra quam speraverint - both for its own perfection and for its apostolic fruitfulness. I continue to have this same conviction... In this devotion I encounter one of the deepest sources of my interior life".

When Saint John Paul II urged "all the members of the Society to be even more zealous in promoting this devotion, which corresponds more than ever to the expectations of our time", he did so because he recognized the profound connection between devotion to the heart of Christ and Ignatian spirituality. For "the desire to 'know the Lord intimately' and to 'have a conversation' with him, heart to heart, is characteristic of the Ignatian spiritual and apostolic dynamism, thanks to the Spiritual Exercises, and this dynamism is wholly at the service of the love of the heart of God".
