government

When you buy through a Sourcewell cooperative contract, you're working with a fellow public entity.

Established in 1978 under Minnesota law, Sourcewell operates as a local unit of government to serve other public agencies. Our contracts are competitively solicited and awarded to the most responsive and responsible suppliers through a rigorous, transparent procurement process you can trust.

What you can count on

Procurement by a fellow public agency

Sourcewell maintains the transparency and equity required by most government purchasing laws.

Statutorily authorized contracts

Enabled by Minnesota Statutes §§ 123A.21 and 471.59 to serve government, education, and nonprofit agencies.

Nationwide usability

Contracts are valid in all 50 states and flexible enough to meet local procurement requirements.

Fully transparent process

Every step — from solicitation to award — is fully documented and publicly accessible.

About Sourcewell

Sourcewell is government empowering government since 1978. Throughout the United States and Canada, we offer a cooperative purchasing program to streamline the public procurement process. On behalf of fellow public agencies, Sourcewell conducts competitive solicitations, awarding the most responsive and responsible suppliers. Agencies can purchase from hundreds of competitively solicited contracts delivered through local dealers and representatives and awarded through a trusted government process. Participation is subject to applicable laws and regulations in your state or jurisdiction. Always consult your local procurement policies to confirm eligibility.
