A taste for cheese production

The cheese making process is as varied and complex as the cheese varieties themselves. This highly skilled sector of the food industry requires an equally skilled and knowledgeable supplier of technologies to ensure the integrity of the product remains consistent and of the highest quality.

GEA has been providing complete end-to-end production lines to the cheese manufacturing industry for decades, drawing on global expertise and practices to bring together the very best in automated cheese production techniques.

Our knowledge and experience spans the range of cheese varieties, from soft, fresh cheeses to semi-hard and hard cheeses. Talk with a GEA representative to discuss how we can transform your cheese production to give you the best quality product from a highly efficient and cost-effective operation.
