Programs

Challenge Course

The Northern Virginia 4-H Center's John E. Dooley Challenge Course Program is run as a sequence of activities and elements that are intended to serve as an experiential education tool to encourage teamwork, foster self-confidence and trust, and engage participants both physically and mentally. Additionally, the challenge course provides participants with an opportunity to reflect upon and recognize their role as a leader, follower, team member, and individual.

Our trained facilitators will meet your group where they are at--no need for prior experience. The success of the team depends on each member's willingness to work with and rely on each other for support. Members of your group need to be at least 9 years old for Low Ropes and 12 years old for High Ropes.

Programs

Natural Resource & Outdoor Education

Whether your group is looking to discover the benefits of team-building and enhanced communication or gain knowledge through exploration the 4-H Center can provide an appropriate, safe, and research-based program designed specifically for you.

Our fun, hands-on learning experiences correlate with Virginia's State SOL's and are flexible and accommodating. We offer single-day or multi-day programs for schools, youth groups, and corporate retreats. All of our programs are instructed by trained, caring professionals committed to the sharing of knowledge and the improvement of all participants.
