

Sandbar and Restaurant

WEDDINGS

2023

Firstly, congratulations on your engagement!
Thank you for considering the Sandbar and Restaurant in Evans Head for your wedding. We're so looking forward to helping you plan and host your day.

EVANS HEAD

Water is a way of life in this laidback town. The calm waters of the estuary that divides the town are ideal for kayaking, canoeing and stand-up paddle boarding.

Both experienced and inexperienced surfers will love Evans Head Beach with 6 km of surfing beaches and pretty coastal scenery. It's protected from southeast swells that generate big waves elsewhere. In the right conditions the breakwall creates a good wave.

Airforce Beach is a long stretch popular with 4WD enthusiasts, beach anglers and dog owners. Evans Head is surrounded by national parks – Broadwater to the north and Bandjalung to the south. There are walking trails, freshwater lagoons, sprawling wetlands and thousands of birds, koalas and other wildlife.

There are spectacular coastal views from Razorback Lookout and Goanna Headland, which has a deep spiritual connection with the local Aboriginal people. You can spot humpback and other whales during their annual migration, and pods of dolphins frolic in the waves along the sandy beaches.

Evans Head is a 2hr 30min drive south of Brisbane and eight hours drive north of Sydney. Flights are also available to Ballina Byron Gateway Airport, only a 40min drive away. There are places to stay to suit all budgets, from national park campgrounds to beachside holiday parks, motels and a hotel.

TESTIMONIALS

"The Sandbar Restaurant was the perfect place for our wedding reception. The staff were so accommodating and open of our vision of a casual cocktail style reception from the very start. They were helpful all the way through the planning process, making sure everything we requested was the way we wanted it. We didn't even have to clean up the day after, everything was packed up and ready for us to take! They take care of everything and our reception was carried out perfectly. We had nothing but good reviews of the venue and especially the food which everyone raved about!! We would definitely recommend having your wedding or event at the Sandbar!"
