More than 60 years of faith "To restore all things in Christ"

July 13, 2025

Dear Beloved Parish Family,

The July 4th weekend was one filled with mixed sentiments for many. While I think most of us had a good relaxing holiday, a tragedy unfolded for those who live in Kerrville and the surrounding areas. Who could be unaffected by the images and news reports of the catastrophic flooding along the Guadalupe river? The thought of so many innocent lives, particularly the children, being consumed by the floodwaters was almost unbearable to handle. I have to confess that I was emotional many times throughout the weekend.

Because of the proximity of the floods to our own community, the tragedy hit close to home. People have told me stories of acquaintances who were caught up in the flood. I myself found out that one of my high school classmates was among the missing, but then later heard that his body, along with his wife's, were recovered. I've even heard first-hand accounts from people in our own community who escaped the flooding. = It is hard to comprehend the magnitude of what happened and how there was little to no warning.

These are the kinds of things that are difficult to understand, and if we were to look for answers, there really would be none. How can anyone explain why God would allow something as horrific as a flood that swept away tiny little children?

We would have to be pretty callous if we didn't react to what happened. Yet, there are sometimes in our lives when it is possible to be insensitive to the plight of others.

The gospel today presents us with another one of Jesus' famous parables. It is the parable of the Good Samaritan. Jesus tells it in conjunction with a Jewish scholar's question about how one may attain eternal life. Jesus poses the question back to him and the scholar answers with the famous "shema", which is: "You shall love the Lord, your God, with all your heart, with all your being, with all your strength, and with all your mind, and your neighbor as yourself." Jesus praises the scholar for his understanding, but the scholar asks for clarification as to who was his neighbor. He does so, perhaps because he wanted to know just where he could draw the line as to whom he should love. Jesus' response implies that there are no boundaries.

The people of Jesus' time could be notorious for playing the part of being very religious, but uncaring toward those in need. Their lifestyle contradicted what faith was supposed to be about. This frame of mind isn't something exclusive to the Jewish leaders of Christ's time. It is something we can easily find today. Externally, we can observe all the various aspects of our Christian faith, but nevertheless be insensitive to others.

The gospel parable is a prick of our conscience as much as it is for the scholar of the law. Do we have a heart for those who are suffering? Can we be attentive to the plight of our neighbor who may not necessarily be within the circle of our friends? It is a good question.

School Website www.stpiusxschoolcc.org It was moving to see how many people responded to the tragic floods.Rescue workers, first responders, and volunteers flocked to the center of the disaster to help. Heroes emerged to save the lives of families and children. Some sacrificed their own lives like the director of Camp Mystic. It is amazing how willing people are to help in a time of tragedy. We will have the opportunity to do our part as we take up a collection for the victims this weekend. At the same time, there are situations that we might find ourselves in where we are more reluctant to get involved.

The parable of the Good Samaritan this weekend portrays two religious individuals who don't want to get involved with the beaten man by the roadside. The Samaritan man, though, is one who approached the situation from the depths of his heart. The Samaritan was an outsider in the mind of the Chosen People, and they would have been repulsed by him. Yet, he is the one that Jesus upholds as a model because he immediately tended to the man and provided oils for healing and safe shelter for his recovery.

We do not hesitate to respond to a heartbreaking tragedy, but we also are called to respond to those among us who are suffering. Let us pray that we will be able to put our faith into action by the things that we do for others, even if those people are not who we would consider neighbors.

God bless! Jr. Paul

One Minute Meditations

St. Elizabeth ofPortugal

St. Elizabeth followed the footsteps of her great-aunt and namesake, St. Elizabeth of Hungary: she was born to royal parents. practiced fervent spirituality, great generosity and penances. She married King Denis of Portugal. Despite a difficult marriage and family conflicts, she remained patient and charitable. She is known for her care for the poor and sick. and for resolving political conflicts peacefully. After her husband's death. St. Elizabeth entered the Third Order of St. Francis.

Prayer is a response to Love

God wants a relationship with us. This is a central truth of our faith. "The living and true God tirelessly calls each person to that mysterious encounter known as prayer. In prayer, the faithful God's initiative of love always comes first; our own first step is always a response" (Catechism of the Catholic Church, #2567). So, next time you feel called to pray, say, like Samuel, "Speak, Lord, for your servant is listening" (1 Samuel 3:10).

"By mercy you have washed us in the Blood, and by mercy you desire to converse with your creatures... Loving Madman! ...Your mercy constrains you to give even more to mortals, namely, to leave yourself to them in food."

St. Catherine of Siena

Step out and let Christ meet you where you are

"Lord, if it is You, command me to come to You onthewater" (Matthew 14:28). St. Peter showed remarkable courage when he stepped out of the boat in the middle of a storm. While God may sometimes call us to follow Him in dramatic or difficult moments, more often He invites us in the quiet, ordinary circumstances of daily life - to step out of what's comfortable and meet Him in our prayer, our relationships, and our service.

Prayer: The greatest challenge in deepening your prayer life is often just beginning. Start with a Gospel passage, read slowly, reflect, respond, and rest in God's presence. Light a candle. Sit in front of an icon. Play sacred music. Let beauty draw your heart to God. Ask the Holy Spirit to renew your desire, focus, and love for God. Step out of the boat - to a tired parent by watching their and you'll find Christ waiting.

Relationships: The virtues - patience, self-control, fidelity, honesty - aren't just about personal growth; they're about

Service: "... the Son of Man came ... to

"Take heart; it is I. Do not be afraid" (Matthew 14:27) serve" (Matthew 20:28). Loving service doesn't require grand gestures. True holiness is forged in everyday acts: give away a piece of clothing you love but don't need. Help with the dishes, even when it's not your turn. Offer a break children. When service flows from love, it transforms both the giver and the receiver – and conforms our hearts to Christ's.

Do That

God clearly.

Why Do Catholics Believe in Purgatory?

The Church teaches that many souls, though destined for Heaven, undergo purification after death, a process called Purgatory. Purgatory prepares us to see Scripture supports this: Judas Maccabee offered prayers for the dead (2 Maccabees 12:43-46), and Jesus mentioned sins forgiven in the next life (Matthew 12:32). St. Paul described a judgment in which a person is saved, but their works are tested by fire. This fire isn't Hell (since they are saved), but a purifying fire, which aligns with the idea of Purgatory (1 Corinthians 3:13–15). Purgatory is mercy. The souls there benefit from our prayers - and they pray for us in return. It's part of God's loving plan to make us truly ready for His presence.
