

Saint Pius X

Catholic Church and School

Dear Friends,

If we were to look back through our journey, most of us could pinpoint certain individuals who made a big difference in our lives. Perhaps it was a teacher, a mentor, a friend, a coach, or some other individual who heavily influenced us. Maybe it was a parent, a grandmother, or another relative. Something about them made us feel confident, appreciated, or loved. Sometimes it takes just that one person, or a collection of individuals, to shine light into our lives.

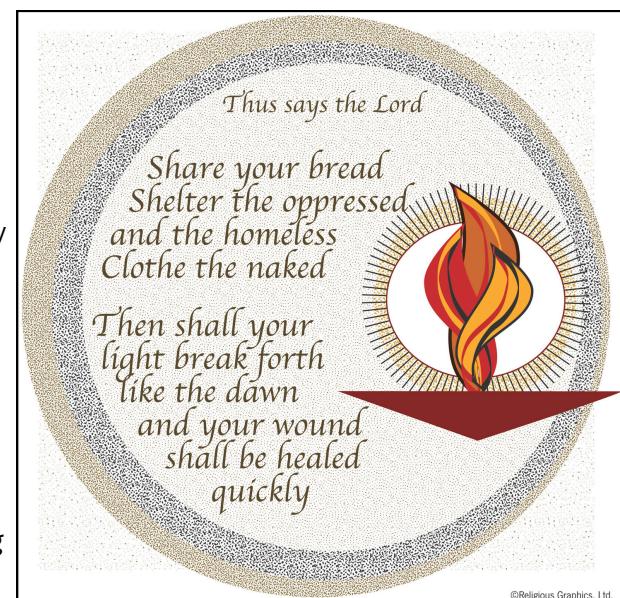

I can think of a number of people who impacted me in a positive way. Either they encouraged me, or accepted me without judgement, or just showed me that I was valuable. One such person who has been on my mind recently, was someone whose family had a street named after them. Her name was Elsie Poenisch. I never saw her very much throughout the years, but on the few occasions that I did encounter her, she always greeted me enthusiastically. As soon as she saw me, she threw her arms around me and in a very spirited voice, she called out, "Hi Pauly"! She was the only one that ever called me by that name, which left an impact on me. She asked me a couple of questions about what I was doing, and I would answer very briefly. I was very young, and she was a senior so I didn't say very much. Then I would go about my business running around and spending time with cousins. Those were very brief, simple encounters, but she left a lasting impression upon me. She shined a little light on me just by her little hug and enthusiastic greeting.

I also recall Sister Aloysius, who was the Principal here at St. Pius X School way back in the day. I was having difficulty getting adjusted to school in those early days. She gave me encouragement and support, and that made me feel more comfortable. Some remember her as a diminutive and rather stern figure, but I will always remember her kindness to me. She was a light that shined in my life, who influenced my faith.

Another person I must mention is the elder reverend, Mr. Bennett. He was a protestant minister who gave me guitar lessons when I was still in elementary school. He asked me what kind of music I wanted to learn to play and I said, "rock music". He responded, "Well, let's start with this." He proceeded to teach me some classic old country songs. I think he wanted to steer me away from some of the "not so good" music that was out there. I really think he didn't know too much rock music anyway. Nevertheless, in his own way, he became a bit of a mentor to me, and I learned how to play the guitar at the same time.

Each of these three individuals were kind of obscure people in my memory, but in their own way, they were people who lit the way in my formative years. I'm sure that you would be able to search your memory and recall individuals who helped shape you either by being a light that revealed your value and goodness or salted you by their gentle guidance and love.

If there are people who helped shape us by guiding us, correcting us, or pointing out areas where we needed to improve, then they were doing what Jesus exhorts us to do in the gospel today. Many of those people may have only had a small part to play in our personal growth, but they should not be discounted. Their light shone in our lives and they contributed to making us better people.

We are called to be a shining light so that others can see the goodness of God in us. We are also called to be salt for the earth. We need to season the world by our actions and by our fidelity to the gospel. We should never underestimate the impact we may have on others and how we play a part in shaping the lives of people we come into contact with. Our influence may only be brief. Nevertheless, a simple word, a compliment, an encouragement, a bit of advice or correction, or a simple hug may make a lasting impact on the lives of people. We may not even know the part we are playing in other people's lives. We may never see how the seed we planted will grow. Despite this, we are called to shine forth Christ's light in our world. He will do the rest.

School News

Blue Jay Families,

This past weekend, our Middle School Youth Group returned from a retreat at Camp Zephyr, where I had the privilege of serving as a chaperone and presenting a talk on the theme of "Joy." This is a topic the Lord has placed deeply on my heart this year, and I have been praying for guidance in growing in personal joy and sharing it with others. In a wonderful affirmation, we returned to Mass to hear Fr. Paul's homily, which, as you may have guessed, was also centered on "Joy." These moments remind us that the Lord often confirms we are on the right path.

In that spirit of joy, I am pleased to share some news and events here at St. Pius X Catholic School.

We are also incredibly proud of our students who participated last week in filming a commercial with the Office of Catholic Schools to promote the Texas Education Freedom Account. They represented our school excellently, and we look forward to sharing the broadcast soon.

Thank you for being a part of our joyful community. We look forward to seeing you at our upcoming events.
