Part 1: INTRODUCING A CODE OF CONDUCT
2022 LGMA CAO FORUM – WEBINARS ONLY PROGRAM

Friday, April 22, 2022, 10-11:30 a.m. PST
Panel: Mayor Al Siebring, District of North Cowichan
       Ted Swabey, Chief Administrative Officer, District of North Cowichan

In 2021, the Working Group on Responsible Conduct released the “Forging the Path to Responsible Conduct” Guide and complementary “Model Code of Conduct.” Join in this important session to learn how to action recent legislative changes, make use of the Guide and Model Code in your organization, navigate elected official resistance, and set a foundation for responsible conduct with your newly elected officials in the years to come.

Part 2: NAVIGATING CODE OF CONDUCT ISSUES
Friday, May 6, 2022, 10-11:30 a.m. PST
Panelists: Ann Mitchell, CAO, City of Lethbridge

Implementing a Code of Conduct may sound like a great idea, but what can you do if you are already navigating conduct issues? How do you foster good governance and leadership amidst rampant misconduct and where can you set boundaries around what is within your capacity as a CAO? Hear key themes about the CAO-Council relationship and the importance of role clarity from Ann Mitchell, CAO, City of Lethbridge, and winner of the Municipal World Women of Influence Award. Enjoy as panelists guide you through identifying conduct issues, explain potential approaches and strategies for navigating conduct issues, and explore avenues for enforcement.

CREATING EFFECTIVE HOMELESS SUPPORT STRATEGIES: HOW TO BALANCE SOCIAL AND ECONOMIC DEMANDS
Friday, November 25, 2022, 10-11:30 a.m. PST
Panel: Erika Sagert, Policy Manager, BCNPHA & TBC

As CAOs, you face pressure to support initiatives to address homelessness while also facing pressure from businesses and residents impacted by homelessness. How do you support efforts to house the homeless, address the concerns of businesses and residents, and maintain an empathetic, human-centered approach? Learn about effective strategies to address homelessness while balancing the varying interests and demands in your community.
