NEWS & NOTES

FROM FR. PETE JANKOWSKI

Join Fr. Pete's mailing list at pjankowski@yahoo.com.

As we bid farewell this weekend to Fr. Jhobany Orduz (who begins his next assignment in Las Vegas on July 1 with Fr. Dan Bellinger), this also happens to be Mother's Day Weekend, both in the United States and Mexico. It is somewhat rare that both celebrations take place on the same day; the United States always celebrates Mother's Day on the second Sunday of May and Mexico celebrates this occasion each year on May 10. As is customary (at least for me), we will be distributing flowers to our mothers at the end of all of our liturgies.

The week also is a little bit melancholy for your local priest because around this time of year (May 12, 1988 to be exact), I also remember the passing of my own mother, Zaira Zelinda Cosenza-Jankowski. Mom was an Italian immigrant who arrived in the United States around 1957 and married my father two years later. Whether we like to admit this or not, immigrants coming from other countries do not always receive a warm welcome by our citizenry (the same applied when Irish and German Immigrants arrived in the US in the 18th Century – as a general rule, only the colony of Maryland warmly welcomed the immigrants from a foreign country at the time).

My mother's entrance into the US was a difficult one. Zaira Zelinda Cosenza came to the US with a very thick Italian accent that stayed with her for the thirty years she lived in this country. She was a devout Catholic and prayed the rosary with her friends prior to the weekend Masses where I lived as a youth (to the detriment of the pastors from the time who told them not to do this, for some reason). My mother was an advocate to the seniors in our community, often taking them out to lunch at a place called "Paul's Diner" in Sandwich IL (which was a train caboose refitted into a restaurant).

On holidays, mom would invite those living in nursing homes into our house for Easter & Christmas Dinner, something that I loathed as a youth but cherish now in memory of what mom did for her local community.

When I graduated college in Washington, DC, my mother was working on her own Associate's Degree in Designing at Waubensee Community College in Aurora (mom had to pass her GED in the states, as she did not finish her education in Italy). The "black sheep" in the family, my mother did not marry until she turned twenty-seven at a time when those in Italy often married in their teenage years.

After studying for her designing exam in 1988, mom was preparing for her designing open house, highlighting the clothes she had made at our home. Returning from Aurora one day, mom worked too many hours on her degree, fell asleep in her car and died in an auto accident as a result. When this happened, I was not told immediately because at that time there were no cell phones and the telephone plant in Hinsdale was destroyed in a storm, prohibiting direct communications with anyone. My father had to contact the local police station to get word to me about my mother, the day after she died.

My mother and my local pastor in Sandwich (Fr. Thomas Kane) were the ones who inspired me to study for the priesthood, then for the Diocese of Rockford. I left the seminary for four years to live with my father until he got back on his feet and remarried a woman who gave him thirty more years in this world. I made a promise my father that I would not forget Maria after his passing; she happens to be the mother of my father's fifth child, who takes care of his mom and took care of his father the years he suffered from cancer.

My God bless all the moms in our community who make a difference to their children.

The Already and the Not Yet

FR. THOMAS M. SANTA, CSSR

The church celebrates again and again during the Easter season a core truth of Christian thought and belief: “the already and the not yet.” Jesus has already saved us, but we have not yet experienced the fullness of the kingdom. In this belief, there is tension, the experience of standing in the middle, where the tension is lived, and hopefully where balance is achieved.

What makes the tension bearable is that we know we have not been left as orphans. We are not on our own. The Spirit of God is sent to us and enables us to hold fast to what we have known and experienced and what is still unknown to us. Scripture and tradition, dogmas and doctrines, sacraments and sacramentals, practices and disciplines, all inspired by the Spirit of God, provide us with the necessary support and direction and help us remain balanced.

As wonderful as each of these gifts of the Spirit may be, each gift must be received, encountered, enabled, and lived. If the gifts are given but never received—and, even more important, used and shared—we not only refuse a gift freely given by our God but also deprive ourselves of the means to maintain our balance and remain on the path that leads to life and light. ●

JOHN 14:18

Dear Padre,

What are the role and responsibilities of a parish priest in his church and community?

Primarily, a parish priest is a teacher and sanctifier. As teacher, he is obliged to instruct people in the faith, especially through the homily and catechetical formation—the Catholic education of children and young adults. He fosters “works through which the spirit of the gospel is promoted, even in what pertains to social justice.” With lay assistance, he brings the gospel message “to those who have ceased the practice of their religion or do not profess the true faith” (Code of Canon Law 528 §1).

As sanctifier, he works “so that the Christian faithful are nourished through the devout celebration of the sacraments,” especially the Eucharist and the sacrament of penance. He is also responsible for ensuring that the Eucharist is central to the faith community by encouraging active participation in the liturgy and parish life so that it’s authentically celebrated. (See CCL 528 §2.)

His other pastoral obligations are in the area of governance. These duties include outreach to those entrusted to his care, especially the sick and dying. He fosters growth in the Christian life within the family. “[W]ith particular diligence he is to seek out the poor, the afflicted, the lonely, those exiled from their country, and similarly those weighed down by special difficulties.” Moreover, he is responsible for grounding his local community within the broader universal Church’s mission. (See CCL 529.) ●

A WORD FROM POPE LEO XIV

The Lord wanted us in this time filled with challenges that, at times, seem to exceed our strength. We are called to embrace these challenges, to interpret them evangelically, to experience them as opportunities to bear witness. Let us not flee from them! Pastoral commitment, like that of study, become for us a school to learn how to build the kingdom of God in today’s complex and challenging history.
