ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Antevski Aleksandar

Welcome to the world of limitless possibilities! I'm Aleksandar Antevski, your personal Achievement Architect.

Growing up in Macedonia, I was fortunate enough to have a loving family who taught me the importance of hard work and dedication. My father, a hard-working man, instilled in me the belief that anything is possible if you put your mind to it. And my older brother, strict as he may have been, supported and encouraged me every step of the way.

In time I developed my passion for assisting others in realising their true potential, and personal development, assisting individuals and businesses in reaching their full potential. Today, I'm excited to share the keys to living an outstanding life with you.

Our daily grind often gets us caught up in the day-to-day routine, but why wait for a disaster to wake us up? Since we never know how long we will be here, let us make each and every second count. Taking the time to decide what matters most to you is the first step towards making it a priority in your life.

But I couldn't have become the guy I am today without the support of my incredible family. They've taken me on several excursions, instilling confidence and a desire for life in me. And now I want to share that information with you and everyone else I meet.

So, are you ready to live your greatest life yet? Let's go on this adventure together and discover your actual potential, and let me be your ally!

SET YOUR COURSE

Defining what an amazing life means to you is crucial to finding true happiness and success.

However, many people struggle with this concept because "amazing" is a subjective term. What's amazing to one person may not be amazing to another. The key is to define what it means to you personally. For some, an amazing life may be spending quality time with family and loved ones, while for others, it may be pursuing a dream career or traveling the world.

Once you have defined what an amazing life means to you, you must set your course to achieve it. Remember, your course may be rocky, thorny, and bumpy, but it's essential to choose your own course and trust your voice from within.

Don't let external pressures or opinions prevent you from pursuing what truly makes you happy. Whether it's learning new skills, meeting new people, or taking a risk to start a new venture, defining what an amazing life means to you and taking the steps to achieve it will lead to a fulfilling life that you'll never regret.

Don't wait until it's too late to realize you're on the wrong course. Define your own meaning of an amazing life and be on the course that feels right to you.

BEING AUTHENTIC

"Authenticity is the daily practice of letting go of who we think we're supposed to be and embracing who we are."

– Brené Brown

CHAPTER II

BE AUTHENTIC

We frequently hear Be yourself, which is surprising since who am I if not myself?!

Discovering our genuine selves may be difficult, especially when we are navigating several settings such as professional, social, and intimate circumstances. However, connecting with our genuine selves is critical, especially during times of stress.

Try this practice to help you connect with your true self: Take out a pen and jot down three items. The first should be an adjective that characterizes you, even if it's something obvious. The second is something you have previously been chastised for, such as overthinking or having a bawdy sense of humour. Finally, put down something your closest friends know and appreciate about you, such as your loyalty or ability to keep secrets.

These three words or phrases can be used to introduce yourself and to remind yourself of your identity. The ability to put language to your genuine self turns on a charismatic light bulb that others can sense. Even if it's just before a business call or presentation, take the time to remind yourself of who you are.

Remembering your actual self may help you stay true to yourself, especially while under scrutiny or under stress.

PUTTING TOGETHER YOUR OWN PERSONAL ADVISERS TEAM

As you embark on your path to success, it is vital to know that you cannot do it alone. While working as a solopreneur is rewarding, it is vital to have a support system in place. You need individuals in your life who will not only encourage you but also push you to do your best.

According to Jim Rohn, a well-known motivational speaker, "you are the average of the five people you spend the most time with." As a result, it is vital to surround oneself with people who will motivate and encourage you to attain your objectives. A personal advisory board may offer you with the direction and assistance you need to achieve your objectives. You may have your own group of folks who watch out for your best interests, much as most successful firms have an advisory board.

It is vital to emphasize, however, that having constant supporters alone will not be enough. While it is crucial to have people who will encourage and support you, it is also necessary to have people who will keep you grounded and challenge your views. According to American businessman and investor Robert Kiyosaki, "The richest people in the world look for and build networks, while everyone else looks for work."

Your personal advisory board should be made up of people who genuinely care about you and are not afraid to confront you. These people will assist you in refining your ideas and pushing you to strive for perfection.

When forming your own advisory board, remember to distinguish between real-life friends and social media followers. While social media might let you connect with people all around the world, real-life interactions are more vital. These are the folks you can rely on and who will be there for you through thick and thin.

While rules and regulations are necessary in many aspects of life, it is crucial to remember that they are elastic. You should bend them if you can do so without breaking them. However, it is essential to be cautious and realize that breaching the rules can have serious implications, especially in professional and personal relationships.

Finally, developing your own advisory council is critical to your success. "You don't have to be great to start," American author and motivational speaker Zig Ziglar reportedly observed, "but you have to start to be great." Surround yourself with people who inspire and push you, and you'll be well on your road to greatness.

ASSOCIATE & ACKNOWLEDGE

Life As It Is is full of unexpected twists and turns that may force you to give up. When aiming for a better life, it is vital to acknowledge every achievement, no matter how modest. While great triumphs should be celebrated, modest victories should not be overlooked. Celebrate your successes with your friends, family, and coworkers. It will significantly enhance the quality of your journey.

When working on a project, set little goals for yourself. If you accomplish a goal, treat yourself to some pampering, a nature walk, or a viewing of your favorite movie. Celebrating your small victories will keep you going.

It's equally vital to recognize the achievements of others. Congratulate your coworkers and friends when they do anything noteworthy. Send them a text message, email, or phone them. People in the digital era are bombarded with birthday announcements and congratulations messages on social media. Do something out of the ordinary to demonstrate that you actually care.

Working remotely is another option to live an extraordinary life. You don't have to be confined to a desk or cubicle in today's environment. You can work remote if you have access to a computer. Work remote allows you to work from any location, such as a park bench, a coffee shop, or your own house. It clears your thoughts and might help you be more productive.

Finally, do not let technology to take over your life. Get out from behind your screens and associate with others. Participate in social clubs or volunteer in your community. Associating with others will provide you greater happiness and contentment than looking at your phone or computer screen all day.

To summarize, enjoying every tiny victory and connecting with others are necessary aspects of living an excellent life. So go ahead and celebrate your own and others' achievements. To renew your mind, try remote working, and don't forget to engage with others offline. Let us make the most of this magnificent trip called life.

EMBRACE YOURSELF AS A LIFELONG STUDENT

As we go through life, it's vital to remember that we don't know everything and that there is always an opportunity for improvement and learning. Being a lifelong student may enrich our lives and provide us with chances we never imagined.

We have numerous resources at our disposal, especially with the internet, to acquire new talents and do new things. Trying new things can inspire creativity and take us down routes we never considered before. Taking a painting lesson, for example, may not be for everyone, but it may be an enjoyable experience and an opportunity to explore a new gift.

Furthermore, being a lifelong student not only challenges us but can also make us smarter and more well-rounded individuals. It's important to never become complacent and always strive for personal growth.

Along with being a lifelong student, it's also important to embrace a sense of wonder and curiosity about the world around us. Sometimes wandering off the beaten path and exploring new territories can lead to exciting and fulfilling experiences. It's important to instill a sense of wonder in ourselves and those around us and to never lose that childlike curiosity.

In conclusion, being a lifelong student and embracing curiosity can lead to a fulfilling and adventurous life. Exploring new skills, trying new things, and instilling a sense of wonder can bring a sense of excitement and joy to our lives.

CHAPTER VI

PAY IT FORWARD: THE JOY OF GIVING BACK

As you begin your road to success and begin to achieve your objectives, remember to give back to the world around you. Giving back is more than simply writing a check; it is about using your unique skills and time to improve the lives of others. Volunteering may be an extremely fulfilling activity that allows you to give back in ways other than money.

Take, for example, Mark Zuckerberg's tale. He was motivated to use his abilities and resources to make a difference in the lives of children after visiting Ghana. He feels that giving back is essential to live a wonderful life and urges everyone to choose organizations that are meaningful to them.

However, it is not only superstars such as Zuckerberg who are making a difference. According to a research conducted by the Corporation for National and Community Service, volunteers in the United States alone donated over 6.9 billion hours of service valued at $167 billion in 2018.

From local charities to worldwide organizations, there are several ways to become involved in giving back. Every little amount helps, whether it's using your abilities in photography, cuisine, or strategy, or simply talking with a local organization.

As actress and activist Audrey Hepburn once said, "As you grow older, you will discover that you have two hands, one for helping yourself, the other for helping others." So let's use our hands, our skills, and our time to make the world a better place. Because giving back feels awesome and it's the key to living an amazing life.

LISTENING TO YOUR INNER VOICE AND HAVING FUN ARE TWO ESSENTIAL COMPONENTS OF LIVING A WONDERFUL LIFE. IT'S EASY TO BECOME OVERWHELMED BY DUTIES AND THE DAILY GRIND, BUT IT'S CRITICAL TO REMEMBER TO TAKE A STEP BACK, FOLLOW YOUR INSTINCTS, AND SCHEDULE TIME FOR FUN.

Don't be scared to let free and enjoy yourself. Perhaps it's taking up a new pastime or activity, such as rock climbing or learning to play a new instrument. Alternatively, it might be as easy as jumping in a puddle or playing in the rain. Whatever it is, embrace your inner kid by being stupid and carefree.

We can make better judgments and live a more honest life if we listen to our inner voice. We know what feels good and what doesn't, and by trusting our instincts, we may live a life that genuinely speaks to us.

So, by all means, take that leap of faith. Pursue your hobbies, seek your aspirations, and don't forget to enjoy the ride. Life is too brief to waste it by going through the motions. Listen to your heart, enjoy yourself, and make the most of every opportunity.

Your instinct is the compass that guides you toward the unknown, the unexplored, and the extraordinary. Trust it, follow it, and discover the wonders that await you.
