1. Objectives of the event

Under the title “The integration of migrants and refugees in Europe: a common challenge for all of us that will shape the future of a more social Europe”, Altius carried out a practical and interactive workshop in two sessions with mixed groups from Ecuador, Colombia, Perú, Dominican Republic, Venezuela and Morocco.

Main features and objectives:

- to present the RRP project to migrant young people and trainers in Madrid
- to disseminate the intellectual outputs of the project at local level using Spanish, but also key languages spoken by the participating migrants and refugees
- to support the project transferability and replication strategy by delivering the results of the project and showing 'what works'
- to engage potential new stakeholders, funders and users of the platform, programme and tools
- beyond the life of the project and raise awareness
- to be delivered in a user-led fashion showcasing in practice to relevant stakeholders the power of user led project delivery and allowing the voices of local migrants to be heard directly by policy makers and the public and thus restore respect.
