

ITALY, 1050

St. Peter Damian, Doctor of the church, was an eyewitness of this miracle. A woman, giving into some abominable temptations, stole a consecrated Host to commit a sacrilege. However, a priest noticed what was happening, chased after her, and recovered the Host. At that point, when he unfolded the white linen in which the Sacred Host had been wrapped, the priest noticed that it was transformed in such a way that half of the Host had become the Body of the Lord in a visible way, while the other half maintained the ordinary appearance of Bread. By such clear testimony, God wished to triumph over unbelief and false teaching on the part of those who refused to accept the Real Presence in the Eucharist.

