

The Earliest Labor of Day Weekends (8/30/25)

It's late August, but nevertheless, this is Labor Day weekend. Since the first of September this year is on a Monday, it's also Labor Day in America. While much of the world celebrates the holiday on May First, with an emphasis on working people, Americans celebrate on the first Monday in September, with the emphasis likely to be on mattress sales. But it's a three-day weekend, and everyone is happy to have one more summer fling as summer unofficially comes to an end.
