

October Comes and Goes (10/4/25)

Welcome, October! The two full months of autumn are October and November. Johnny Mercer wrote a poem, later set to music by Barry Manilow, called "When October Goes." It laments the transition from the often-warm October to the likely-wintry November. It seems that we ramp down from summer one month and then, when October goes, we begin ramping up to winter the next. It all comes to life, in song and story, this week on Radio Deluxe.
