WHY DID THE MEN ON THE ROAD TO EMMAUS REFUSE TO BELIEVE IN JESUS' RESURRECTION?

The reason why these men refused to believe, or rather their excuse, was that they "did not see him". In His response, Jesus exposes the true cause, "Oh, how foolish you are! How slow of heart to believe all that the prophets spoke!" Slowness or hardening of heart and inability to understand are a result, an effect, of personal sin or of being within a sinful society that feels it is normal to be influenced by animosity and distrust. Then, Jesus goes there directly.

These two men had probably not betrayed Jesus, but did abandon the other followers, disassociating themselves with the losing team. Refusing to believe the women's and disciples' testimonies didn't lie in mere rationality but in affection.

The Lord's prolonged company and words that explained everything, slowly healed the slowness of heart and inability to understand.

These two men were leaving Jerusalem, communion with others was broken, they were dispersing. Dispersion is an expression of sin's triumph. Jesus encounters them on the road, healing them with his company and teachings. The first sign of this great transformation is when they invite him to stay, even though they did not know him.

Happy Easter!

Fr. Juan Zarate

¿POR QUÉ LOS CAMINANTES DE EMAÚS SE NEGABAN A CREER EN LA RESURRECCIÓN DE JESÚS?

La razón para rehusarse a creer de los caminantes a Emaús, o más bien pretexto, que proponen es que "a él no lo vieron".

Jesús, en su respuesta, afronta la verdadera causa: "¡Qué insensatos son ustedes y qué duros de corazón para creer todo lo anunciado por los profetas!" La dureza del corazón y la incapacidad de comprender son resultado, efecto, del pecado personal o de estar en una sociedad pecadora que ve normal dejarse llevar por las antipatías y la desconfianza. Entonces Jesús va directamente hacia allá.

Probablemente estos dos hombres no habían traicionado a Jesús, pero sí abandonaban a los demás seguidores, se desligaban del bando perdedor. La no aceptación de los testimonios de las mujeres y los discípulos no radicaba en el punto meramente racional sino en el afecto.

La compañía prolongada del Señor y sus palabras que explicaron todo, fueron sanando poco a poco esa dureza y esa incapacidad de comprender.

Estos dos hombres se alejaban de Jerusalén, la comunión con los demás estaba rota, se dispersaban. La dispersión es expresión del triunfo del pecado. Jesús les salió al encuentro por el camino y, entonces, los cura con su compañía, con su enseñanza. El primer signo de este gran cambio es que lo invitaron a quedarse con ellos aún sin conocerlo.

¡Felices Pascuas!

P. Juan Zárate
