

FORT BEND COUNTY EMERGENCY SERVICES DISTRICT NO. 6

November 4, 2025

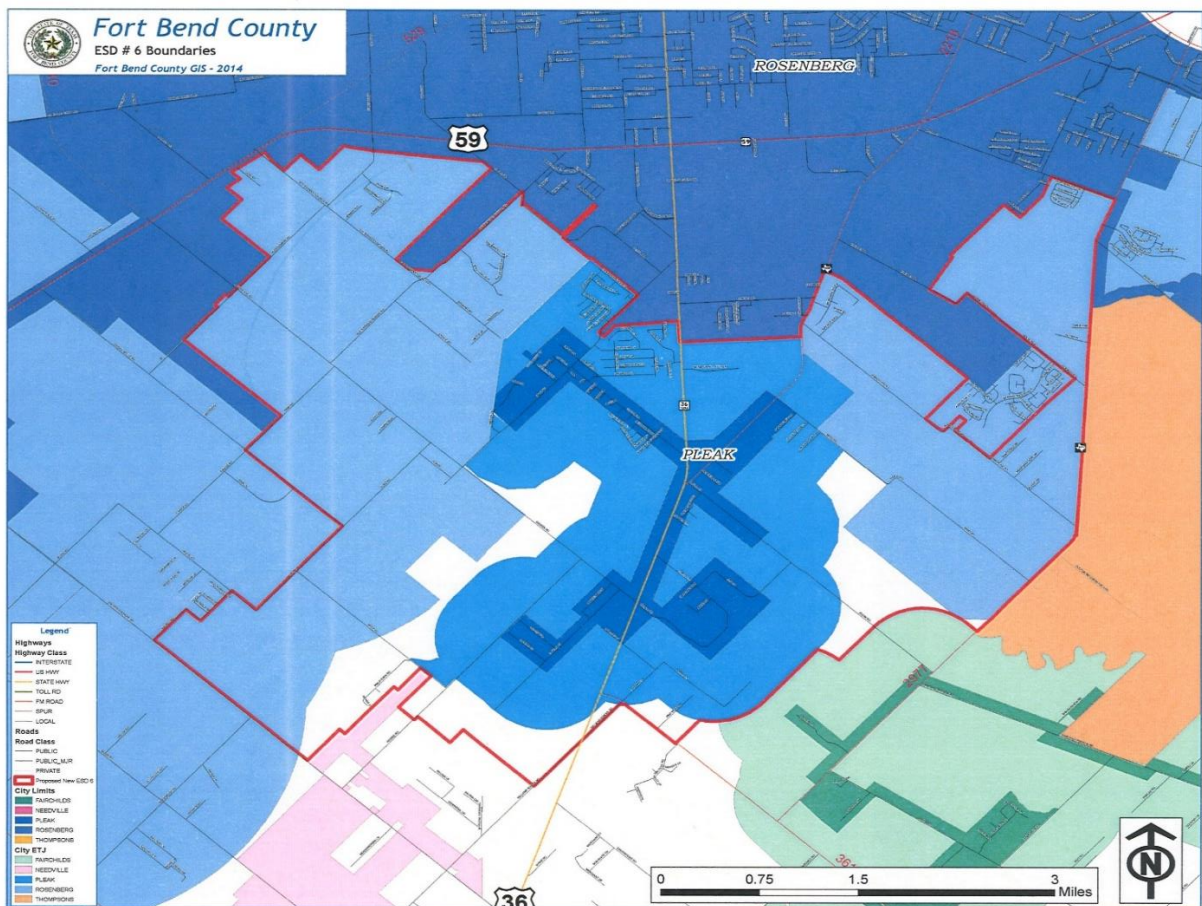

Annexation Election FAQs

1. What is an Emergency Services District ("ESD")?

An ESD is a political subdivision of the State of Texas that was created by and operates pursuant to the Texas Constitution and Chapter 775, Texas Health and Safety Code. Depending on the ESD's creation documents, an ESD can provide fire protection, emergency medical services or both.

2. What kind of ESD is Fort Bend County Emergency Services District No. 6 (the "District")?

The District was created through a creation election that was held on May 9, 2015. The District currently provides fire suppression and emergency medical services to certain unincorporated areas of Fort Bend County via a contract with Rosenberg Fire Department. The current District boundaries are outlined in red below.

3. What is an ESD annexation election?

- Section 775.052, Texas Health and Safety Code, allows ESDs to expand their territory, upon petition, by qualified voters who own taxable real property in a specific area not included in an ESD may file a petition with the board of commissioners of an ESD requesting the inclusion of that specific area into the ESD. The petition must be signed by: 1) at least 50 qualified voters who own taxable real property in the territory, or 2) a majority of those voters, whichever is less.

- Once the ESD receives the petition, and provides proper notice, the ESD board then holds a public hearing on the petition.
- If after the hearing the ESD board determines that the annexation would be feasible and would benefit the ESD, the ESD board may approve the annexation.
- The annexation of the territory would only become final when approved at an election by: a) a majority vote of registered voters in the ESD and b) a majority vote of registered voters in a separate election in the territory to be annexed (both elections MUST pass for the annexation to be approved).
- Once added, the annexed area would thereafter be subject to paying ad valorem taxes to the ESD for its emergency services.
- If an ESD has outstanding debts or taxes, the voters in the annexation election(s) must also determine if the annexed area would assume its proportion of the debts or taxes if added to the ESD.

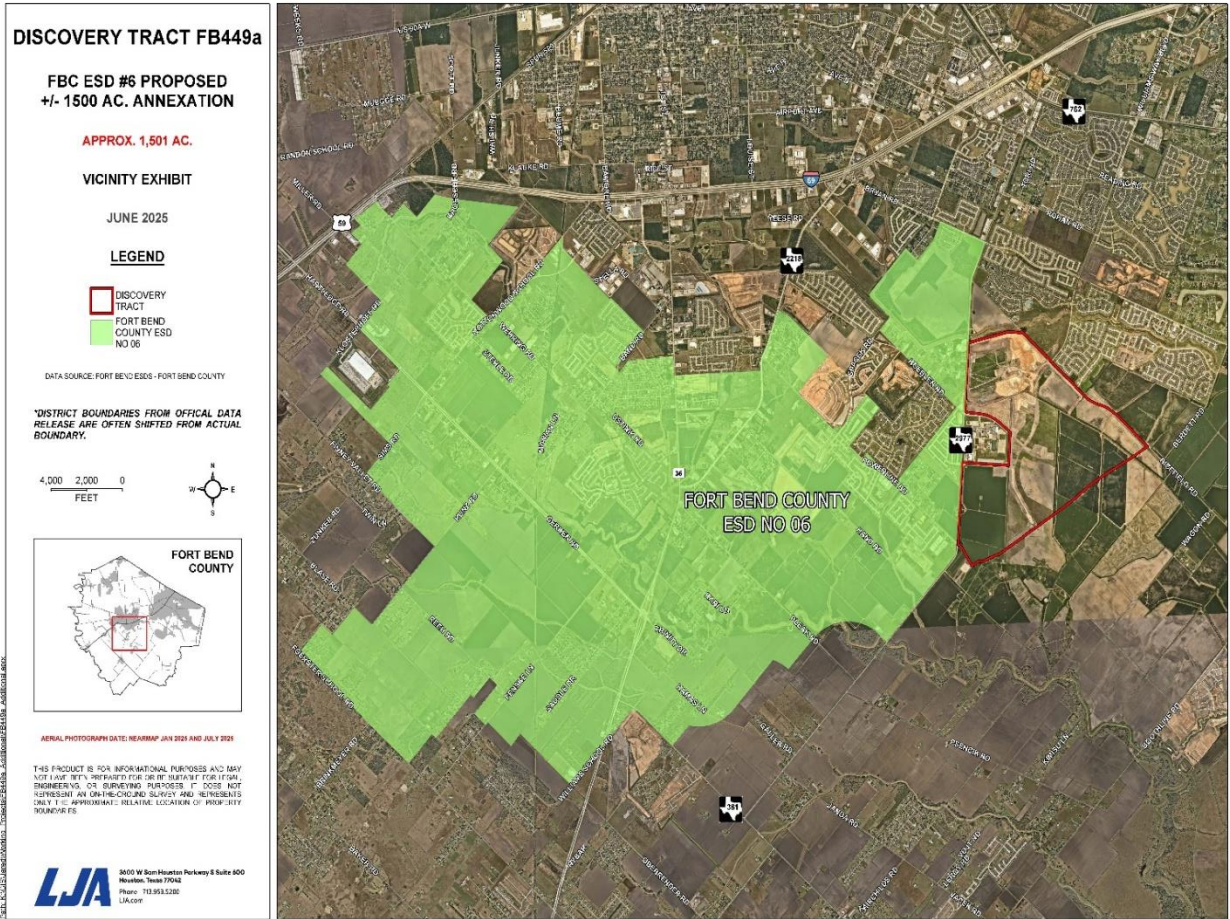

4. Why did the Board of Commissioners of the District (the "Board") order this annexation election?

The Board received and reviewed a Petition Requesting Inclusion of Territory Into the District (the "Petition") at the July 7, 2025 Board meeting. The Petition was submitted by a majority of qualified voters who also own taxable real property in the annexation area and requested that the District add that real property into the District.

After the required notice, the Board held a public hearing on the Petition on August 18, 2025. After the public hearing concluded, the Board determined that annexation of the territory into the District would be feasible and would benefit the District and, accordingly, approved the annexation and ordered the annexation election to take place on November 4, 2025.

5. Where is the area proposed to be annexed by the District?

The Notice of Election is posted on the District's website and includes the metes and bounds descriptions of the 1,490.25-acre area proposed to be annexed (the "Annexation Area"). The Annexation Area is also outlined in red on the map below with the District's current boundaries shaded in green. The Annexation Area is located adjacent to the District's eastern boundaries.

6. What will the ballot look like?

For: 1) the registered voters of the District, and 2) the registered voters of the Annexation Area the ballot will look similar, even though it will actually be two (2) separate elections. A sample ballot will be posted on the Fort Bend County Elections website and on the District's website when it becomes available. Voters may vote "for" or "against" each proposition. The ballots will include the following propositions, depending upon the voter's registration address:

WITHIN THE DISTRICT:

PROPOSITION A – Adding the property described on the Notice of Election to the Fort Bend County Emergency Services District No. 6.

PROPOSITION B – The property described on the Notice of Election assuming its proportionate share of the outstanding debts and taxes of the Fort Bend County Emergency Services District No. 6, if it is added to the District.

WITHIN THE ANNEXATION AREA:

PROPOSITION A – Adding the property described on the Notice of Election to the Fort Bend County Emergency Services District No. 6.

PROPOSITION B – THIS IS A TAX INCREASE. The property described on the Notice of Election assuming its proportionate share of the outstanding debts and taxes of the Fort Bend County Emergency Services District No. 6, if it is added to the District.

7. If the propositions pass, what is the impact to me? If the propositions fail, what is the impact to me? What happens if the propositions pass in the Annexation Area but not the District, or vice versa?

If both propositions pass, and you reside in the Annexation Area, you will be required to pay ad valorem taxes to the District for the services that the District will provide to you. If you are a current resident of the District, the District's service area will be slightly larger and the District will be receiving additional ad valorem taxes from the residents in the Annexation Area, but there will be no additional tax or debt impact to you due to the annexation.

If the propositions fail, and you reside in the Annexation Area, you will not be annexed into the District or served by the District. Because of this, you will also not be subject to paying ad valorem taxes to the District. If you are a resident of the District, the District will remain status quo.

If the propositions pass in the Annexation Area but not in the District, or vice versa, the Annexation Area will not be added to the District. Both sets of propositions would be required to pass for the Annexation Area to be added to the District.
