Environmental Sustainability

The Advanced Group is committed to being an environmentally sustainable organisation. This has led to our accreditation as a 'green' business and reflects our social and ethical responsibility.

As an accredited company, we must continuously strive towards world's best practice when it comes to being environmentally smart and minimising our carbon footprint. We are conscious of this on a day-to-day basis. Our policies and procedures have been developed and tested with this in mind and demonstrate a complete corporate attitude towards environmental goals. Some of our initiatives include setting targets for energy and water consumption, only purchasing environmentally-friendly products, promoting awareness throughout all operations of the business and independently auditing our practices.

In addition to fostering an internal focus on environmental sustainability, we outwardly encourage and support our customers to do the same. We therefore assist our clients with any and all environmental focuses and proactively seek ways to improve these. For those clients that require a concentrated focus on the environmental aspects of a job, we can dedicate an environmental manager to review all practices.

Quality Management

The Advanced Group aims to maintain a consistently high level of service output to each and every client. We therefore allocate substantial resources to review the quality of our products and assess the performance of our teams.

Our product review committee regularly assesses the durability and effectiveness of our products to ensure they meet the requirements of their intended use. We consider our clients' needs and requirements as well as Australian Standards in making these assessments. New products undergo a similar review and testing process before they are offered and provided to our customers.

As part of our guarantee to all our clients, we continuously assess the performance of our teams to ensure high levels of product installation and customer service. Operational Managers undertake site inspections and assessments on a routine basis as well as audit team effectiveness. These internal controls are reported and managed monthly.

The Advanced Group engages a variety of external partners to review and audit our own internal controls and output to provide independence to our quality claims. We appoint auditors and conduct reviews on an annual basis as a minimum. In addition to this, we are often requested by our clients to undertake pre-qualification audits as part of specific project requirements.
