Juli Briskman Boasts About Only Working 15 Hour Weeks As You Pay Her Mortgage

Loudoun County — In the audio link here, Juli Briskman admits that she is running for re-election only so she can pay her mortgage in the next four years while working 15-20 hours a week as she prepares to run for higher office. This should make everyone angry. To further insult the taxpayers, in March Juli tried to increase Supervisor pay another $5,000 because the job is so time consuming and hard. According to a Loudoun Now article, "Supervisor Juli E. Briskman (D-Algonkian) said it is 'a very modest bump' and she would have supported a larger raise."

On the current LCPS teacher salary scale, it would take a teacher with a bachelor's degree over six years to make as much as Juli makes right now as a Supervisor. I guarantee those teachers work more than 40 hours weekly and attend more meetings and trainings. The same goes for first responders, law enforcement, skilled trades, and customer service employees. People are working hard to make ends meet while the cost of living continues to rise.

We are all working hard, but Juli wants us to pay for her mortgage and vacations while she uses her time to build a political resume and activist bona fides on social media. To be clear, she really wanted to run for state senate but it doesn't pay enough. She doesn't actually want the job of Algonkian Supervisor. There is nothing in my opponent's rhetoric that demonstrates how the people of Algonkian District and Loudoun County are her priority. Rather, it's pretty clear from her actions and words that she sees it the other way around, that we are here to serve her personal needs and aspirations. Let that sink in. Then take that anger and vote NO on Juli.
